SIX JAILED FOR THEFT OF ALCOHOL

Father, Two Sons and Three Others Arrested Charged With Looting S. F. Bonded Warehouse of 17 Barrels

Former Liquor Dealer's Cellar Yields Greater Part of Alcohol Stolen; Police Hunt For Another of Suspects

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Six men are incustody today, the arrest of a seventh is momentarily expected, and twelve barrels of alcohol were recovered by the police after an all-night investigation. Captain of Police John J. O'Meara of the Mission station, assisted by Detective-Sergeant Thomas Regan and Detectives Gallatin and William O'Brien, made the arrests and recovered the stolen spirits.

Those in custody are:

MILTON McQUAIDE, alleged bootlegger and ringleader of the gang, charged with burglary.

Robert McQUAIDE, his father, a butcher, charged with receiving stolen goods.

WILLIAM McQUAIDE, aged 19, schoolboy, another son, charged with vagrancy.

EDWARD ROBERTS, alias Brush, a mechanic, charged with burglary.

ALMOND HOUSTON, auto mechanic, charged with burglary.

WILLIAM HUNT, restaurant-keeper, charged with receiving stolen goods.

On Sunday the Tacoma brewery, United States bonded warehouse, was entered and seventeen barrels of alcohol carried away. An automobile truck abandoned on Brazil avenue, which is alleged to have been stolen by Milton McQuaide, furnished the clew which led the officers on their quarry.

LIQUOR DEALER IS SUSPECTED

After an all night jaunt in which several houses were entered and the occupants aroused, the six men were finally rounded up and confessions, it is said, obtained from all save Milton McQuaide, who denies that he is the ringleader and protests that the others are trying to put up a job on him. McQuaide lives at 1658 Hayes' street and was roused from his bed at 4:30 o'clock this morning and hustled to the city prison. The officers had previously captured Roberts and Houston on Eighth street near Mission.

After they had been questioned, the officers proceeded to the home of William Hunt, formerly a prominent saloon keeper, and alleged to have recently been arrested by the federal authorities. In his garage at 752 Twelfth avenue, nine barrels of the stolen liquor were found. Hunt denied absolutely that he had agreed to buy the alcohol from McQuaide but the police point to the fact that it was on his premises and say that they believe a contract for its purchase had already been entered into.

William McQuaide was found loitering in the vicinity of the place where Roberts and Houston were caught and he too was taken into custody.

THREE BARRELS ARE LOCATED

At the home of Robert McQuaide, 515 Arkansaw street, the additional three barrels of alcohol were found and it was there that the officers hoped through a search of the premises to discover a clew which would lead them to the remaining barrels. These are believed to have been already sold or at least farmed out. The officers also incline to the theory that the other man, whose identity they know, may have secreted them.

Most of those in custody have been in trouble before.

Milton McQuaide was twice questioned by the police following the shooting of Policeman John Trainor, and others of the six have been arrested at different times for violating the state poison law and one of them for burglary.

She Finds Stage Lover Failure

MRS. CRANE WILBUR, wife of the noted actor-author, who has announced that she has separated from her husband for "temperamental reasons," and is seeking a business career rather than one behind the footlights.

Temperamental Differences Given as Reason for Separation from Actor-Author

"Crane is a better stage lover than he is a lover of a home."

This was the declaration today of Mrs. Crane Wilbur, wife of the noted playwright and actor, who has forsaken the glare of the footlights for a career in the business world, and today announced that she had separated from her famous husband because of temperamental differences.

Now Mrs Wilbur is working, for the first time in her life, she says, and is employed as an art designer in a San Francisco studio.

She denied reports that she was planning to divorce her husband and said she had never thought anything about it.

"Why should I?" she asked frankly. "I'll never be foolish enough to marry again."

BOTH ARE SATISFIED, MRS. WILBUR SAYS.

Her marriage in Reno four years ago to Wilbur, was the second matrimonial venture for both. They met in Reno, it is understood, while becoming residents in order to obtain divorces from "Hubby No. 1" and "Wife No. 1," respectively.

"Crane and I have simply agreed to disagree." Mrs. Wilbur said today in discussing the action. "I don't know whether I will sue for a divorce or not. I have not thought much about it. My husband, I think, will be in San Francisco some time this summer and maybe I will do something then; in the meantime we are both satisfied."

Mrs Wilbur refused to discuss at length the reason for the separation and would not give the name of her first husband. She said that Crane's temperament was mainly responsible for her desire to live alone.

"There is no other man in the case for me," she continued, "and I don't think another woman has anything to do with it. If that is the case, they have certainly managed to keep it awfully quiet."

PLAYED WITH WILBUR ON STAGE OFTEN.

Before marrying Crane Wilbur, Mrs. Wilbur was never on the stage. Since her marriage she has often played with her husband but never opposite him.

Wilbur is now playing on a vaudeville circuit and according to his wife is in Kansas City.

Oakland society which knew Mrs Wilbur well when her husband was the lion of Oakland social circles, may gasp at her winsome statement, with a smile: "I wanted to do real work," she said, "and am now. I can be found at my desk from 9 every morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"And speaking of business, jobs, this is the life"

Yeggs Caught in Act of Burglary Battle Officer

Four Men Escape After Shots Are Exchanged; Posse Searches District.

ALVARADO, March 8.—Four yeggs, caught in the act of blowing the safe of the general store of Matsumoto, padrone of the Japanese residents of this district, fought a pistol battle at an early hour this morning with Night Marshal Andrew Anderson and then fled with half the town, aroused by the fusillade, at their heels. They escaped.

Marshal Anderson saw the four men working at the safe and they discovered him at about the same moment. Covering him with a pistol they compelled him to stand by while they went ahead with their arrangements.

Opportunity offered and Anderson escaped to a nearby clump of brush, from which he opened fire. The yeggs returned his shots, trading him four shots for three.

Antone Mello, who has a store next door and lives above it, was aroused from his sleep and raised a window only to be covered promptly by one of the gang and ordered to stay where he was.

By this time the town was aroused and the yeggs took to their heels. It was intensely dark and they had little trouble to make their getaway.

Although no evidence of a waiting auto were found, it is believed that a motor car was the means of their escape, as the whole town was thoroughly rounded up within a very few minutes and no trace of them found.

Packers Cut Pay Of 100,000; Men Announce Fight

Decreases Approximating 12 Per Cent Are Effective On March 14.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Wage decreases of approximately 12½ per cent, affecting more than 100,000 employees of the packing industry in all parts of the country, were officially announced today. The reductions are effective on March 14.

At the same time there will be a revision of working hours, time and one-half for overtime being paid only after 10 hours labor in any one day, or after 54 hours in any one week. Double time will be paid for Sundays and holidays.

The new wage scale reduces the rate of hourly employees eight cents per hour. The piece work rates are reduced 12½ per cent. At present the lowest rate paid labor is, 53 cents an hour. The higher paid employees will be reduced proportionately. The minimum wage guarantee for 40 hours pay per week will be continued.

It was also announced that the packers are now working out plans to establish closer relations between the workers and the management with a view to giving the employees a voice in all matters of mutual interest.

Details of the plan would be made in the near future, the announcement said.

"The reduction of 12½ per cent in wages is very small in view of the fact that packing house wages average three times as much today as they did before the war," said J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour and Company, in discussing the decreases.

"Despite the lower rate, employees can probably earn as much or more than under existing conditions. The forty-hour minimum wage with its basic eight-hour day has demonstrated positively during the two years that it has been in effect that

Fear of Tong Keeps Chinese From Court

That the warring Chinese tongs have not yet adjusted their factional differences became apparent today when bondsmen for Fong Wah, charged with vagrancy, excused his failure to appear in court with the explanation that he was in hiding through fear of a new outbreak.

Lim Bim, one of the bondsmen, said that Wah is a member of one of the warring organizations and fears to go abroad. Judge Smith continued the case until March 10, and announced that he would demand Wah's appearance then despite the purported tong differences.

HARDING AND NEW CABINET CHIEFS MEET

President Beset With Throng of Office-Seekers; Weeks Announces Plans For War Department Under New Era

WASHINGTON, March 8. — The President met with his cabinet for the first time at 11 o'clock today. Vice-President Coolidge was present, an innovation. The Vice-President was given a seat at the end of the cabinet table, facing the President, with the members of the cabinet seated along the sides of the table.

It had been the understanding after the cabinet meeting that the withdrawal of United States troops from the Rhine had occupied a large place in the discussion but when asked specifically as to this Secretary of War Weeks said the question was not under discussion.

The Panama-Costa Rican situation was discussed. No reply to the last American note has been received from Panama. The tax and tariff plan to be placed before Congress at its special session is understood to have been taken up in a general way.

WEEKS ANNOUNCES POLICY OF WAR DEPARTMENT

After the meeting, which lasted more than two hours, it was announced that Harding would call his official family together again on Friday and that meetings would be held once every week and perhaps oftener.

It was understood that one of the first principles laid down by Harding was that departmental jealousies must be done away with and that they must work together for the good of the whole machine.

The policy of the War Department under the new administration contemplates organization of the nation's military forces into one "harmonious, well balanced and effective army, consisting of the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserves," Secretary Weeks announced.

The regular army and the national guard will be developed to the strength authorized by law, the announcement said, and the reservists will be organized as divisions and auxiliary troops with full officer complement and sufficient enlisted strength to be capable of rapid recruitment to full strength.

JOB SEEKERS DESCEND ON NEW PRESIDENT.

The President encountered today his first big patronage drive since he entered the White House. During the morning his office was besieged by members of Congress and others, most of whom are understood to have made recommendations regarding appointments.

One of the subjects to which President Harding is giving most thought is the membership of the Shipping Board, but Secretary Christian said today that any talk of definite selections for the board was pure speculation.

University Gets 101 Acres of Alameda

A deed to 101 acres of Alameda marsh land, stated to be part of a large amount of property turned over to the University of California by the late Dennis Searles, former regent of the institution, has been filed with County Recorder G. W Bacon.

One deed conveys the property from the Oakland Waterfront company to the Pacific Improvement company and another from the latter company to the university. Stamps placed on the second document show that it constituted a sale and that the price was $350,000, the stamps amounting to $350.

It is stated that Searles' holdings in the waterfront company were left to the university. A contest over the Searles millions filed by a relative is pending in New York, where he died.

EBERT DECLARES TREATY VIOLATED

BERLIN, March 8.—Friedrich Ebert, the German Imperial President, declared in a proclamation issued today that Germany was not in a position to use force to oppose the forceful methods of the allies in occupying additional German territory, but that she nevertheless protested vigorously against what the President declared was an open violation of the treaty of peace.

The president's proclamation was as follows:

"Fellow Citizens: Our opponents in the world war imposed upon us unheard of demands, both in money and kind, impossible of fulfillment. Not only ourselves, but our children and grandchildren, would have become the work slaves of our adversaries by our signature. We were called upon to seal a contract, which even the work of a generation would not have sufficed to carry out.

"We must not and we cannot comply with it. Our honor and self-respect forbid it.

"With an open breach of the peace treaty of Versailles, our opponents are advancing to the occupation of more German territory.

CANNOT RESIST OCCUPATION

"We, however, are not in a position to oppose force with force. We are defenseless.

"Nevertheless, we can cry out, so all who still recognize the voice of rightousness may hear."

"Right is being downtrodden by might.

"The whole German people is suffering with those of our citizens who are forced to suffer foreign domination. With firm bonds must this sorrow unite us in one sentiment, one will.

"Fellow citizens, meet this foreign domination with grave dignity. Maintain an upright demeanor. Do not allow yourselves to be driven into committing ill-considered acts. Be patient and have faith.

"The imperial government will not rest until the foreign power yields before our right."

U. S. SOLDIERS TO TAKE NO PART AS INVASION OF RHINE VALLEY IS MADE

Dusseldorf,, Ruisburg and Ruhrort Occupied Without Resistance; Remain Firm, Berlin Advises

FOCH DIRECTS UNITED FORCES

WASHINGTON, March 8.—No orders of any kind have gone forward to the American army of occupation on the Rhine, Secretary of War Weeks said today.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Withdrawal of the Americana forces from the Rhine is not under consideration, Secretary Weeks of the war department announced today after the first meeting of the cabinet.

FRENCH MILITARY HEADQUARTERS, Germany, March 8 (by the Associated Press).—The occupation of the city of Dusseldorf, the largest of the cities taken over by the allies, was completed this morning, and that of Duisburg and Ruhrort, comprising together the chief ports of the Ruhr coal and industrial region, this afternoon.

The entire movement was effected in a way to obviate, so far as possible, a show of force, but the French and the British Rhine flotillas were prepared for eventualities.

The headquarters of General Degoutte, who as commander-in-chief of the French forces along the Rhine, carried out the orders from Marshal Foch for the advance, are situated at Neuss, on the left bank of the Rhine, opposite Dusseldorf.

After the occupation of Dusseldorf General Degoutte issued a proclamation to its people, in which he declared the occupation was not a measure of hostility against the population, but one intended to compel the government of Germany to carry out its obligations. No obstacle would be raised against the carrying on of the economic life of the region, he declared, and the allied authorities were ready to aid the workers in improving their condition, especially as regards provisioning.

ARMIES OF ALLIES MARCH ACROSS RHINE

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN GERMANY, March 8 (United Press).—Allied troops marched across the Rhine today. In the early morning, when the river mists were just beginning to thin out, long columns of French, British and Belgian soldiers, equipped and rationed for war, trampled over the bridges and into the German cities of Dusseldorf, Duisberg and Ruhrort.

Horse, foot and artillery, they advanced into the Ruhr valley, Germany's rich mineral basis. As they swung into the narrow streets of the old cities people peered out timidly from windows and doorways, the rumble of wheels and the clatter of hoofs, the sound of shrill whistles giving orders, and the steady shuffle-shuff of thousands of feet over the cobbles, was the music to which the allied armies marched deeper into Germany.

The operations were directed by General Degoutte of the French army from his headquarters at Neuss, opposite Dusseldorf. The French forces were under direct command of General Gaucher.

FRENCH ADVANCE DURING NIGHT

During the night the French advanced to the center of the Dusseldorf bridge, where a barbed wire entanglement was placed. Pioneers went ahead and threw up earthworks and established a trench line beyond the bridge.

There was no sign of life, however, from the darkened city and the operations were completed in a strange quiet. Meanwhile more French troops in river boats were coming up the Rhine, past Coblenz, where the United States army of occupation is based. They passed Coblenz in the night.

Before today's forward movement started artillery clattered over Dusseldorf bridge and swung into position where it would cover the advance of the army at dawn.

NO ATTEMPT MADE TO RESIST

Then the French, British and Belgians went forward, bayonets fixed and ready for action, but there was no sign of resistance, not even a stray shot from a house top. Commanding officers commandeered houses for headquarters, their staffs were billeted nearby, and in a remarkably short space of time the city was [illegible] occupied.

At the same time, and in accord with plans prepared by the allied leaders when it was seen that the Germans would remain obdurate, French and Belgian troops marched into Ruhrort and Duisberg.

By ED L. KEEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, March 8.—The presence of American troops in the Coblenz bridgehead complicated the situation somewhat. If the Americans are permitted to cooperate with the allies, the customs line will include their territory. However, should Washington order the Americans not to participate the customs line will be drawn west of the American bridgehead.

In exacting penalties the allies feared there might be protests from German radicals. They were encouraged in this by the German delegation, who sent elaborate instructions to Berlin to see that any such outbursts were suppressed.

The fact that Germans in the occupied territory received the invaders quietly tended to calm any such fears.

OCCUPATION WILL NOT BE OPPOSED

BERLIN, March 8 (By the Associated Press).—Occupation of Duesseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort by allied forces will not be opposed by the German government, it was indicated here this morning. The cabinet was in session until 11 o'clock and then dispersed without taking any action calculated to meet the situation which has arisen between Germany and the allied nations.

It has been hoped that some means of avoiding a final break may be found in view of the informal conferences between Dr. Walter Simons and Premiers Lloyd George and Briand, during the past three days. Speaking of the allied penalties a cabinet member stated after the adjournment of the meeting:

"We must bear them with dignity."

Information was received at the chancellory late yesterday afternoon that Belgian billeting squads had appeared near Neusse. Early last evening the government was advised that contingents of French troops had moved to the edge of occupation zone and were ready to advance, while others were coming down the Rhine on river boats.

Germany's coal deliveries to the allies may be affected, it was indicated here. Although entente troops may seize important coal shipping points, they will have to go still further into the Ruhr district in order to secure control of coal production.

DUSSELDORF, March 8.—Inhabitants of this city were warned in a proclamation issued by the mayor today against taking a provocative attitude toward allied forces occupying the town. They were asked to be dignified and quiet. Women and children were especially warned to remain at home. The population was gloomy, but was resigned to the situation.

GERMAN DELEGATES LEAVE FOR HOME

LONDON, March 8.—The German delegates to the indemnity conference, headed by Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, left for home this afternoon. All were in civilian dress, even General von Seeckt, who had appeared at yesterday's sessions in full dress uniform with a long sword at his belt. There was much hat lifting and bowing on the platform of Victoria station while the Germans were waiting for their train. Dr. Simons said that he thought he would be back in London in a few weeks as he felt confident the conference would be reopened.

On the same train with the Germans were a number of Belgian army officers who had been recalled from leave of absence owing to the allies' decision to advance on the Rhine.

BERLIN AWAITING ALLIES' NEXT MOVE

By FRANK E. MASON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, March 8.—Following a two-hour session by the German cabinet on Monday night, it was announced today that the government will remain firm in its opposition to the indemnity decision of the allies. The Socialists at Cologne have pledged their support to the government and the people of Dusseldorf (when has been occupied by the allies) sent a message asking the government to continue its defiance of the allied demands.

For the time being Germany will play a passive role, awaiting the next move of the allies. Whether or not there will be any cabinet changes will not be revealed until Foreign Minister Walter Simons reports to the Reichstag, probably on Thursday.

The cabinet has received information from the Ruhr district that Belgian and French troops were on the move hours before Simons' message was received here from London announcing that the allies were putting their penalties into effect.

PAY OF 100,000 EMPLOYEES OF PACKERS IS CUT

Reduction Effective March 14 Announced By Industry in Chicago.

It results in decreased weekly earnings The adjustment should enable employees to average 48 hours' wages per week and their earnings will compare favorably with the earnings in other industries"

The values of our raw materials meat, and by-products have suffered the most severe decline ever experienced," said the announcement by Swift and Company "Our expenses of doing business are still at the war level They are almost three times as high as in 1914 Our profits have fallen continuously since 1917 Unless we make further cuts in expense, we cannot expect to get enough out of meat and by-products to pay for livestock and have enough left to cover expenses"

The orders for the reduction in wages follows the cancellation by the packers on February 26 of the war time arbitration agreements for the settlement of all disputes

A meeting of packing employees from all parts of the country will be held in Canada Wednesday and Thursday to consider the reductions and the abrogation of the arbitration agreements

"The packers are looking for a strike and there is no doubt that they will get one if they insist on their proposal to return to the 10-hour day," Dennis Lane, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Workers' union, said today, when informed of wage reduction and increased working hours announced by the packers today

Lane said that if it really was necessary for the packers to reduce wages in order to do business the employees would be willing to come half-way in any proposition that was made in a fair and just way

I am convinced, however," he said "that the workers will never consent to a return to the antediluvian 10-hour day

If wages must be reduced, the packers must go about it in the same manner which the men took in getting their increases The packers have done away with the services of Judge Samuel Alschuler as arbiter, but we will not accept a wage reduction unless it goes before some fair tribunal or umpire

"Either recall Judge Alschuler or appoint some one in his place is our advice to the packers."

Lane said he believed that the packers would "relish a strike." "We have found that they have stored vast quantities of their products and that they could shut down for some time without any real loss" he said

"Had the employees taken such a stand as the packers now have taken, we would have forced the country into chaos and been condemned by every one"

A wage conference of employees has been called by Lane to meet in Omaha tomorrow. In addition meetings in all cities where there are packing house branches are being arranged and a demonstration is planned here for next Sunday when 30 000 employees are expected to take part in a parade and mass meeting.

The proposal of the Associated Builders of Chicago today, that bricklayers, carpenters and common laborers in the building industry accept a 20 per cent wage reduction, was rejected tonight by the carpenters' executive council Counter proposals will be submitted Carpenters in Chicago get $1.25 an hour

KALAMAZOO, Mich, March 8.—Employees of the Bryant Paper Company have voted to accept a reduction of wages "in justice to our employers, who are competing with paper mills that have lowered their wage scales." A committee of employees will meet officers of the company to agree upon a lower rate of payment.

Guard Placed Over Sinking Cellar Oasis

This mournful tale found its way onto the police report submitted to Police Chief Fenton G. Thompson today by Lieutenant William F Woods of the Northern division.

"Louis Lovisoine owns a house at 5130 Lawton avenue occupied by his brother-in-law, Petter Matto, and in the basement of the house Lovisoine had stored several barrels of wine for home consumption Within the last two months, at different times, demijohns of wine have been stolen, entrance being gained by forcing the door to the basement

'The wine is of very excellent brand pleasing to the palate and exhilarating to the senses and Lovisoine is undergoing great mental anguish by reason of the diminishing stock, there being but twenty gallons left He therefore prays aid by the police in guarding the precious fluid

"I advised him that we would give immediate official attention to the matter"

Moved by the pathetic nature of the approaching calamity which besets Lovisome if the mysterious thieves are clever enough to make another raid on the remaining wine stock Captain of Inspectors Flynn lost no time today in detailing Acting Inspector Haldeman to the case, with orders to stay on the scene until he trails the thieves to their lair

Fine Paid in Money and Poetry, Too

ALBANY, March 8.—A speeder who was moved to poetry in paying his fine was discovered yesterday in Albany. Instead of the usual derogatory expletives greeting the arresting officer this one chose honeyed words of rhyme

From Modesto came the poetic bit to Judge John H. Paul, together with a check for $15, the amount of bail set by the official. The writer, Arthur M Grant, proprietor of a Modesto music store, was arrested for hitting the high spots on San Pablo avenue during a visit to the bay section

Despite the rhyme Judge Paul ordered the bail forfeited Here is what the speedster wrote in sending his bail money

There are three words, the sweetest words
In all of human speech
More sweeter than all songs of birds
Or pages poets preach
This life may be a vale of tears,
A sad and dreary thing,
Three words and trouble disappears
And birds begin to sing
Three words will dissipate the gloom
And water turn to wine.
Three words will cheer the saddest days—
"I love you"—wrong, by heck,
It is another sweeter phrase,
"Enclosed find check"

NEW DISTRICT PLANS LIKELY TO BE SIDETRACKED

Effort May Be Made To Punish South For Vote Against King Bill.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 8.—So far has the reapportionment question been involved in the King tax bill discussion an animosities that the matter of redistricting the state into assembly and senatorial units will be laid over for a number of weeks and possibly until an extra session.

There is a disposition to sidetrack reapportionment whenever mentioned and the reasons are many. Some wish to allow time for the healing of wounds caused in the tax fight, others believe that the delay is being fostered so that a whip hand will still be held by the administration, while there are still a number of others who believe that the proper time to act is after Congress has settled on the congressional reapportionment bill.

The Boggs bill, which holds the center of discussion, would give Los Angeles two senators and six assemblymen in excess of their present number. Because the south voted against the King bill it is said that an effort will be made to punish that section in favor of the north, and that there is a chance that San Francisco will not lose one senator and one assemblyman as proposed. If the matter is settled at once this possibility will cease as a means to swing needed votes in line for the administration reorganization and economy bills.

Shasta and Tehama counties are fighting over the Boggs plan to include them in a senatorial district as there is a local dispute over the Iron canyon project which would preclude a senator from either county from representing the other. Then Ventura county objects to joining with Kern and is holding out for its present companion, Santa Barbara. Rather than bring all of these disputes into the discussions that are to come before the session many favor the postponement.

Chairman J. J. Prendergast of the assembly reapportionment committee admitted today that the King bill feeling was responsible for the many suggestions he had received from his colleagues and that it looked as if the whole matter would be put over until late in the session or to an extra session after Congress has acted.

Utility Company Heads Criticize Budget Figures

By AD B. SCHUSTER

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 8.—With the start of separate investigations in the Assembly and Senate the California legislature, lately freed from tax bill discussion, has begun a second statistical jamboree with budget inquiries that will take weeks in the completion. In the meantime all committee meetings have been called off, subpoena powers have been given both bodies, and some of the leading men in corporate business of the state are appearing to offer suggestions as to the manner of running the state government.

The hearings so far have brought to light the fact that the utility company heads and others who have testified are not satisfied with the manner in which the board of control has presented its figures. Paul Shoup and Wiggington Creed told the board and the Senate that in their belief the budget should contain enough details so that the ordinary tax payer could tell what it was all about.

"There should be a recapitulation of the number of men holding jobs and the salaries paid," said Shoup, who offered as a sample the budget of the state of Illinois.

PROMISES HOT FIGHT.

Another result of the meetings is the gain in sentiment shown for a plan of reorganization of state government and the outspoken declarations by many who testified that they did not believe the governor's plan went far enough to accomplish much either for efficiency or economy. This reorganization question is looming as the big one on the horizon and promises a battle rivaling that over the King bill.

"In my own experience," Creed told the Senate, "I know that when the Eastbay Water company carried out the San Pablo dam project the camp was visited by three state boards, all of which did the same work and that the work could have been done by one. The board of health, the immigration and housing, and the labor commissions all visited us and all did excellent work. I am criticising none of the boards, but say that there is a duplication of duties and one report would have covered the situation. What is needed is to reorganize the present archaic system of our state government along business lines."

Creed was asked directly if he supported the statement that had been made that savings could be made that would show there was no necessity for the King bill and its resultant increase on public service companies and upon public utility rates, and replied that he did.

CRITICISES ESTIMATES.

"I believe the state revenue has been under-estimated," he said, "and that the surplus has been under-estimated. I also favor the bond issue plan for buildings and certain capital expenses."

Creed brought from Clyde L. Seavey the statement that the surplus, including $5,000,000 in securities, was nearer to $9,500,000 than the $6,000,000 that has been stated, and added that he agreed the board of control's budget did not give the detailed information to which the public was entitled.

"Any citizen desiring information cannot get it from your budget alone," he told Marshall De Motte, member of the board.

READY TO SAVE MONEY.

De Motte rose from his seat and levelled a finger at Creed when he replied: "You will find us as willing and anxious to save money as you are," he said. "It has never been stated just where we could save. The statement has been made for publicity that savings could be made. You have misled the people by comparing the budget with the expenditures which include additional appropriations."

Shoup, Creed and Thelen agreed that the expenses of a bond election were justified rather than spend a large additional amount at this time when there was a great necessity for holding down taxes.

Along with the budget trimmers who are on the job is arriving a large number who are anxious to see that certain items are not cut. The California Federation of Women's Clubs is prepared to fight against the plan to abandon the project for an industrial farm for delinquent women, members of the National Guard are anxious that the appropriation of $750,000 for that purpose is not touched, and the university and agricultural interests are asking for more than the board of control allowed. Soldier members of the legislature are not agreed on the National Guard appropriation, some of them arguing that it is not needed.

REVENUES DISCOVERED.

Those who are holding for the plan as outlined in The TRIBUNE on Sunday, in which $5,000,000 was shown to be in sight, say that the hearings so far have shown an additional $3,000,000 in increased surplus and revenues discovered and some would add the National Guard figure to that. If the bond issue plan is put through there will be added at least $2,000,000 more so that the sum to be raised by the King bill is being rapidly approximated from other sources. As the King bill is in effect that will mean that a substantial sum can be trimmed from the budget if the legislature is willing to go all the way and that, in addition, certain individual increases for needed improvements may be made.

When questioned regarding his views on the university appropriation as allowed and as asked Creed, who was once president of the University Alumni association, said that he would like more time to study the question and that he would be glad to bring in a separate report. The committee indicated that it would be glad to hear him.

ARGUMENT IN ASSEMBLY.

There was considerable argument in the assembly before the separate hearing, there was agreed upon, many holding that time would be saved to have the work done by the ways and means committee and that so long as the Senate hearings were on there was no need of two inquiries. The decision reached means that all of the arguments for budget boosts and cuts will have to be heard in both houses and that several weeks will have passed before the matter is over.

All questions of reapportionment of Assembly and Senatorial districts are held over for the time being, Assemblyman J. J. Prendergast of the committee said today. If there are to be any changes in lines in counties not affected by the general bill they must come from the people at home, Prendergast intimated, as the legislative committee is not concerned in questions of local importance.

SPECIAL SESSION NOW SUGGESTED TO REAPPORTION

Belief That Solons Could Act After Congress Has Taken Up New Districts.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

SACRAMENTO, March 8.—Reapportionment, both congressional and legislative, may, in the opinion of well-informed legislators here, be low closely after adjournment of the come the reason for a special session of the California legislature to follow regular session now in progress. The regular session will, they say, probably close some time early in May. A special session to consider reapportionment could probably be held soon thereafter, if the governor so willed, as the legislators have reason to believe that the United States Congress will by that time redistrict California under the new schedules of population fixed by the last federal census.

CONGRESS MAY ACT

Congress recently refused action on reapportionment to increase its own number. Word received here direct from Washington indicates that the new Congress will be asked to reconsider that action and to pass a law granting California, with other states, increased representation. If that is done, the word from Washington said, it would be late in April, or early in May, and state action to arrange the new districts and reduce the size of those now existing could follow immediately.

Reapportionment of the state into senatorial and assembly districts is engaging the attention of individual members, all of whom will be affected by whatever law is adopted. The committees on reapportionment in both assembly and senate have not, however, reported out any bills nor held any meetings. Chairman Prendergast of the assembly reapportionment committee said he had no meetings in early contemplation.

MANY REASONS GIVEN

Reasons assigned for the belief that the whole matter might go into an extra session were many, and included a suggestion that this would prevent any "trading" in securing the formation of certain districts, or in holding proportionate representation of various sections about where it now is. It was also suggested that unless the legislature shows more speed than it has so far developed, there was small chance for all important matters now awaiting attention to get it, and that reapportionment could wait better than some other things.

No authoritative statement from the governor could be had on the subject as he was out of the city. If he should call a session he could limit its scope strictly to reapportionment by his wording of the call, or he could permit it to include other subjects if he preferred.

At his office, Martin Madsen, private secretary, said that the subject had not been raised or considered, and that there could be no authoritative consideration of it until some definite question arose.

Salary Bill to Be Considered by Delegation Today

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, March 8.—The salary bill for Alameda county will be before the local delegation at a meeting late this afternoon or this evening with some prospect that an agreement will be reached. Officials of the Alameda county taxpayers' associations and others are here to speak for and against the increases in payroll allowed. In general the bill, as it now stands, gives deputies $175 a month and allows some increases to higher officials. It does not allow the salaries recommended in the grand jury report.

Judge Robert Edgar of Berkeley is here in the interest of a bill that would increase the salary of judges in his class, a measure that has promise of suspport, as other judges have been raised.

MINORITY WILL URGE SEPARATION OF FARM SCHOOL

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 8.—Disagreement in the special assembly committee named to investigate the needs of the agricultural department at the University of California has reached the stage when a minority report demanding the separation of the farm school at Davis and the university at Berkeley will be brought on the floor.

The member who is to bring out this report and who has already introduced two bills aiming at the separation of the schools is Van Bernard of Butte City, the only one who is not supporting a program that looks toward some immediate changes at Davis for the better. The committee report, according to Chairman Percy West, will be brought in late this week. It will contain three recommendations:

1. The appointment of a committee of farmers, legislators and university men to report in two years and to investigate the whole agricultural school question.
2. An increase in the appropriation for the agricultural courses at Berkeley and Davis to the sums originally asked by the university, $2,500,000 at Berkeley and $300,000 at Davis.
3. Reorganization of the system of teaching agriculture at both places, without reference to the proposal of the university regents that the first two years of study be given at Davis instead of the last two years.

The objection to the plan of the regents is that Davis is not yet prepared to care for the large number of additional students that would come and that the committee is not agreed as to the wisdom of the plan.

According to West the sentiment is almost unanimous and the draft of the report, as stated above, will stand. Bernard says that no meetings have been held for a week and that if such a report is brought in he will bring a minority report on the floor.

Naval Building and Base Program Is Recommended

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, March 8.—A resolution memorializing congress to carry out the naval program and one which, if adopted, will put the state legislature on record for completion of the American fleet, as planned and for its supply and naval bases, has been reported out of the assembly committee on federal relations with the recommendation that it be adopted.

Another resolution reported favorably by the federal relations committee is that asking compensation to counties containing land in national forest reserves, when such land is exempted from local taxation.

BROADER USE OF PLAYGROUNDS IS URGED IN APPEAL

Committee Explains Object of Proposed Amendment To City Charter.

Elimination of present charter provisions which limit its activities is being sought by the Oakland recreation department in an amendmen which will be presented to the voters at the coming municipal election. With its adoption the way would be opened for the opening of vacation camps, toutings, athletic competitions for persons above the school age. The sponsors declare that no extensive increase in the budget will be involved in the amendment. The movement is toward the establishment of community centers. Recent opinions of the city attorney were to the effect that the activities of the board under the present charter must be confined to the official playgrounds and work with the younger children.

Signed by H. B. Perkins, president; Mrs. Georgiana Hodgman, Mrs. Addie Mosher, Herman T. Johnson, R. C. Durant and Jay B. Nash, the following statement on behalf of the proposed amendment has been issued by the Recreation Board:

1—The proposed amendment would enlargo the scope of activity from "children's playgrounds" to "public playgrounds and recreation centers."

2—Each playground could be made a civic center.

3—Would remove doubt as to rights of the recreation department becoming a clearing house for various organizations which desire to participate in leagues, tournaments, contests and pageants.

4—Would remove doubt as to the right of the department to take groups of children from the playgrounds for hiking trips to the hills around Oakland, or to organize them in the vicinity of the playground to keep them off the street.

5—Would make it possible for the department to stimulate the save-for-an-outing plan.

San Quentin Guard Slashed By Convict

SAN QUENTIN, March 8.—Without a word of warning, Donato Ruiz, a Mexican convict, leaped upon John Ham, a prison guard, yesterday near the prison quarry and slashed him twice across the back of the neck with a pocket knife. Leaving his victim lying on the ground surrounded by other prisoners, Ruiz walked back to the prison building and surrendered to Captain S. L. Randolph.

Ham was assisted to the prison hospital by convicts in the gang of workmen in his charge. Dr. L. L. Stanley found that one of the knife thrusts missed Ham's jugular vein by half an inch. Ham will recover.

Ruiz was received at the prison from Orange county November 4, 1917, to serve seven years for assault to commit murder. A year ago his credits were revoked for attacking his cellmate with a knife.

Many fish which inhabit tropical waters are poisonous as food.

County Treasurers Object to Tax Plan

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 8.—Seeing in the proposals to have the oil industry of the state classed as a public utility and placed under the control of the State Railroad Commission the opening of an avenue through which a large amount in taxes will be diverted from the counties to the state, a number of county treasurers are here today to file protest. The matter is scheduled to be heard before the assembly committee on public utilities this evening when discussion may be postponed on account of the budget hearings.

There are three bills before the legislature aimed at the oil industry and its control. S. L. Heisinger of Fresno county, author of one, says that he will seek to have his measure amended so that it will apply to the refiners only and will eliminate those engaged in the actual production. Assemblymen Harry Lyons of Los Angeles and Harry F. Morrison of San Francisco are the authors of the other bills.

A protest against the Hurley motion picture censorship bill was received today from the San Francisco Labor Council.

Frank Colbourn Is Speaker At Luncheon

STATE FISH DAY IS PROCLAIMED FOR TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The State Fish Exchange, through Gilbert B. Daniels, state market director, has declared tomorrow as national Fish day.

The purpose of Fish day is to familiarize the people with the various kind of fish to be obtained at low prices in the markets and to encourage consumption.

It is said that the population of the United States consumes less fish per capita than that of any other nation. In the face of this it is declared that a greater quantity and variety of commercial fish are found in the waters in and about this bay than in any other portion of the globe.

Owing to unfamiliarity with the different types, only three or four varieties are consumed by the general public.

It is claimed that prices are now coming down, especially for such varieties as sole, sand-dabs, rock cod, chilipepper, herring and carp.

The public is urged to make it a point tomorrow to demand the different varieties of fish. "Don't be content with the same old standbys," Daniels urges, "but buy some of these fish."

Tilicum Club Will Have Party Tonight

The Tilicum club, a newly formed organization of young business women of the Eastbay district, will hold a theater party at the MacArthur theater, formerly Ye Liberty Playhouse, tonight when Alice Gentle will appear in the role of "Juanita" in "The Rose of the Rancho."

The arrangements for the party have been made by Miss Maude Putnam, president, and Miss Grace Harris, secretary and treasurer of the club. It is expected that about fifty members of the organization and their friends will attend the party.

Former Cabinet Man Lauds Allies' Stand

BOSTON, March 8.—George W. Wickersham, attorney-general of the United States in the Taft administration, said in an address here last night that in view of the statements in the Republican platform in 1920, he could not "conceive of the United States attempting to make a separate peace with Germany."

Wickersham asserted that Germany should be made "to pay to the last drop," and that the only question be decided was how much she was able to pay.

"The American people have never turned their back on a great moral duty," he asserted in urging that this country stand by its associates in the world war, "and in my opinion we will not now desert these friends with whom we fought the great fight."

Hopeful Heirs Get Shock; Estate Fades

Investigation for a client into the status of the famous "Jacob Baker Estate" conducted by Attorney Louis Glickman has resulted in the receipt of a postal from the register of wills at Philadelphia which says "There is no estate of that nature in process of settlement in Philadelphia."

Considerable excitement was occasioned recently by the announcement that the estate of Colonel Jacob Baker, a Revolutionary Army leader of Philadelphia valued at close to $100,000,000 was about to be distributed. A number of heirs of Jacob Baker, are residents of Oakland.

The postal from Philadelphia is a printed form evidently prepared because of the large number of inquiries concerning the estate.

LEGION ARRANGES RALLY IN ANSWER TO RHINE PROTEST

Meeting Held in New York Is Scored By Galbraith; Speaker Flayed.

NEW YORK, March 8.—An "all-American meeting for God and country" to protest against the meeting held here under the name of the "horror on the Rhine protest," has been arranged for the night of March 18 by a committee under the chairmanship of Colonel F. W. Galbraith Jr., national commander of the American Legion it was announced. Madison Square Garden was obtained.

"Meetings which are disgraceful examples of propaganda," said Colonel Galbraith, "are being held for the purpose of not only disuniting the American people, but also for alienating us from those peoples who gave with us of their life's blood on a common battlefield. A time has come to the American people when it must prepare itself to meet a common foe."

Another condemnation of the "Rhine horror" meeting occurred last night when former members of the 105th field artillery denounced the meeting as un-American. By unanimous vote they requested Commander Galbraith to demand the resignation from the American Legion of Lieutenant Colonel A. E Anderson, one of the principal speakers at the meeting.

Former fellow officers of Lieutenant Colonel Anderson at the meeting last night burned resolutions offered to condemn him for his participation in the "Rhine horror" meeting. The action followed a lengthy debate in which he was defended by Father F. P. Duffy, former chaplain of the regiment, who maintained he held the right to say what he pleased so long as he did not purport to represent his regiment.

Publishers Lose Injunction Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The Overland Publishing Company has been denied its petition for a permanent injunction against certain individuals and corporations comprising the Printers' Board of Trade of San Francisco, according to a decision just handed down by Superior Judge Henry M. Owens.

The case was argued two weeks ago on demurrers before Judge Owens. Charges were made by the Overland Company that an attempt was being made by the defendant to force the company to join the Printers' Board of Trade. With the filing of the suit, a temporary restraining order was granted to prevent interference with the plaintiff's business. By Judge Owens' decision this order was dissolved.

MARRIAGE HELD AN OBSTACLE TO SCIENCE PUPILS

CHICAGO, March 8.—Marriage was declared to be an obstacle in the path of the aspiring young scientist by Dr. James Weing, professor of patheology at Cornell University Medical College, in an address before the annual congress of medical education.

"It is essential that the young medical student who hopes to become an expert pathologist, for example, be single and remain single during his years of study and research," he said. "This means that he cannot marry before he is 35 years old."

"Ambition and a squalling baby don't mix," said Dr. Louis B. Wilson of Rochester, Minn. "The embryonic scientist must have his mind free from disturbing thoughts of high rents and living conditions. There must be no walking the hall carpet with a baby at night."

RUUD HOT WATER

INSTANTLY in the KITCHEN, BATHROOM or LAUNDRY.

Magic is really the word describing these wonderful Automatic Heaters, for just a turn of any hot water faucet in the house brings Boiling Water Instantly.

Think what this adds to your home; the convenience of having hot water where there are children, or for the convenience of the occasional guest.

The RUUD is equipped with a POSITIVE DOUBLE ACTING FUEL CONTROL, something the ordinary heater does not have. This eliminates all danger of the heater becoming overheated if sediment should lodge in the water valve, for then the THERMOSTATIC or Secondary control immediately cuts down the gas or shuts it off entirely.

U. S. MAIL PILOTS' GUIDE WARNS OF MARINA DANGERS

Wires, Gas Plant and Wind Force Aviators to Come in High, Says Book.

As different from the automobile tourist's road guide book as black is from white, is the first official pilot's directions of the New York-to-San Francisco flight of the United States air mail service, which was announced today by Colonel John A. Jordan, chief of the Pacific division of the air mail, and serves to illustrate the progress made in air mail traffic during the past few years.

The air schedule or time table, which is printed by the government in booklet form, contains complete information of distances, landmarks, compass course, emergency and regular landing fields, with service and communication facilities at principal points en route. It ignores obstacles, bad roads, washouts and other worries of automobilists and railroad men and maps a direct course from New York to San Francisco. The route is divided into eight sections—New York to Bellefonte, Pa., to Cleveland; to Chicago, to Omaha, to Cheyenne, to Salt Lake City, to Reno and to the Marina field, San Francisco. The entire flight of eight relays, is 2640 miles, according to the official's directions.

The guide also contains instructions of the Durant flying field in Oakland. It points out the advantages of this landing field, stating that it has a wind indicator and a "T" on it. The time table calls to the attention of the mail pilots the danger under some conditions of the Marina field.

"Marina field—is stationed on the south of San Francisco bay," the directions state, "three miles from the Golden Gate and on the east portion of the old fair grounds. It can be identified by the Palace of Fine Arts building, which has a large dome roof, at the west edge of the field; a monument 150 feet high, the Column of Progress, is on the north side of the field. The city of San Francisco is to the south. There is a prevailing southwest wind here. A double line of wires borders the eastern end of the field and this, in conjunction with the gas plant in the same vicinity, forces the pilot to come in high. The pilot should hold the ship off until the runway is reached coming in either direction, as both the east and west edges of the field are very rough. Landings should not be attempted from any directions other than the east and west."

Buffalo Attorney Found Dead in S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—William Douglass, an attorney at law of Buffalo, N. Y., residing temporarily at the Hotel Herald, was found dead under mysterious circumstances in a doorway at 308 Eddy street, early today. He was about 65 years old.

Whether Douglass succumbed from natural causes or was the victim of poison is yet to be determined. A vial containing white pellets was found in his possession and other pellets in his room. He left the hotel at 10:30 o'clock last night and four hours later was discovered in the doorway dead with his overcoat thrown over him. He had $72 in his possession. He registered at the Herald February 7. It is understood that he has a son at the Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles.

$5,000,000 SUIT IS SETTLED BY MEXICAN COURT

CALEXICO, Cal., March 8.—Terminating litigation of more than 31 years, the Mexican supreme court, according to a wireless message received here today, has awarded property estimated to be worth from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 to Dr. W. T. Heffernan, assignee of Mrs. Alice Heber of Los Angeles, and Licenciado Alberto Andrade.

In declaring them the rightful owners, the court quieted other claims, notably that of Antonio Flores. The case involved extensive tracts along the Mexican border in Mexicali, including the barracks, the Inter-California railway, the telephone and telegraph offices and a building occupied by General Rodrigues.

Despite the claim of Flores, Diaz, then president, gave or sold the vast strip of border land to Andrade and then extended permission to A. H. Heber to purchase part of it from Andrade. Heber's widow subsequently sold her holdings to Dr. Heffernan.

HOW IT WAS DONE!

"Say, Charlie, I've got a story with a real kick in it. I was talking to a girl the other day with some real sense. She'd make a mighty good wife for some fellow. You know that good-looking Polo Coat that Florence has been wearing? Well, we had all been wondering how she could afford a coat like that, so I asked her about it. She hesitated a minute and then said, "Well, I'll tell you the truth about the matter. I've been wanting one for a long time and wondering how it could be done, when I saw Cherry's ad in the paper and this is the result. This adorable coat only cost me $29.50 and at that they gave me plenty of time to pay for it (men's store 528 13th street, women's store 515 13th street), and they have classy suits for men, so you'd better go in and look them over. They carry a full line of men's and women's wearing apparel."—Advertisement.

RICHMOND CITY TO SEE BATTLE NEXT THURSDAY

BERKELEY, March 8. — The second skirmish of the "battle of the Berkeley hills" will take place on Thursday when the 1500 University of California cadets march from the campus to an attack upon the city of Richmond. Each semester the cadets are excused from class work on two afternoons, and they are marched into the hills by the officers in charge and trained in actual battle tactics.

Work of the military department has reached a high standard this semester, in the opinion of Colonel J. T. Nance, cadet commandant. The rifle team of the university, in competition by telegraph with other R. O. T. C. units in the west, won first and two other places, each of the teams entered receiving a place.

Plans for the vacation time have been completed by the cadet officers, and they have announced that fifty college students will be sent to Camp Lewis for training during the summer. Men who attend the camp will be excused from the second year of training at the university, and those that contine the training will receive reserve officer's commissions

California's Early History Is Rich Field

BERKELEY, March 8.—Nearly a hundred years of California history have been ignored by historians, and a fruitful field of research awaits students in the "testimonios" which have never been translated, according to Professor C E. Chapman of the University of California The period which has been neglected is that between the years of 1603 and 1697, says the professor, and because of the lack of knowledge, the term has been called "uneventful" by historians

Thousands of "testimonios" or documents, detailing the work of explorers and pearl hunters along the California coast, have never been translated, and from all this mass of material, Chapman declares that only a few pages have ever been written. During the period mentioned, Chapman says that many voyages were made to the Californias, and very few of these have ever been fully investigated.

One case which was famous in early days, the "Carbonel Case" in which a coveted charter to explore was granted by a Spaniard to a Frenchman, has received but scant mention in history, yet Chapman says that many thousands of pages of material are in existence on this subject

The lack of research in various periods of California history has given rise to mistakes in the spelling of many names, and even mistakes in the names themselves An almost universal mistake is made by historians in calling the explorers by their second or last name. Chapman says that the Spanish custom gives the men their mother's name for the last, and their father's for the first Thus, he says, many of the figures of history are not known by their proper names.

Tuolumne Hunter Bags His Eighth Lion

TUOLUMNE, March 7.—Charles Laidshaw killed another large mountain lion in the Jawbone district this week, according to reports here. Laidlaw now counts his score this winter as 8 lions and 30 wildcats.

Laidshaw, who is the hunter for the game commission, has estimated that a mountain lion kills on an average of one deer a week, while wildcats, who live on small game like quail, will average from one to two of these birds a day.

Laidshaw uses two dogs in his hunting of these animals. His best dog he claims is "Tied Bone," a fox hound he brought from Kentucky. He broke the two dogs himself and, according to Laidshaw, they are now so well trained that they pay no attention to any trails but those of the wildcat and mountain lion.

Three Urge Claims to Hawaii Governorship

HONOLULU, March 8.—Foremost in the public mind of Hawaii at present probably is the question of who will be the next governor of the territory.

Governor C. J. McCarthy will retire in June. J. K. Kalanianaole, Hawaii's delegate to Congress, has been endorsed for the governorship by the local Republican organization and by the legislature.

Wallace R. Farrington, general business manager of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, is a candidate for the gubernatorial chair, and it is said he has influential backers who are urging his appointment.

Robert Shingle, Republican national committeeman from Hawaii, also is mentioned as a prospect.

SLEEP SICKNESS BAFFLES DOCTORS OF EAST STATES

Health Officers Are Making Strong Efforts to Cope With Disease.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Health authorities in New York and other cities along the Atlantic coast are making strong efforts to cope with the disease of sleeping sickness or encephalitis lethargica, which is reported as unusually prevalent this year. While stating that the malady should not cause public alarm, the medical heads have warned that it should not be under-estimated.

As an evidence of the renewed sweep of the peculiar epidemic, reports for the first seven weeks of 1921 indicate more than 218 cases in New York city, of which 25 per cent were fatal. During 1920 a total of 500 cases were reported in this city, with the death toll comparatively small.

The most important step taken in the war on the disease was the move in several states in making sleeping sickness reportable. This has been done in Massachusetts and New York. In New York several health officials admit they are up against a baffling problem.

DISEASE NOT CONTAGIOUS

Various versions as to the source and ravages of the disease have been offered. Health commissioner Copeland of New York believes the disease is not contagious in the ordinary sense.

"This is proved," he adds, "by the fact that out of the total number of cases reported last year in New York city only in two instances was a second case reported where one previously had been found."

The commissioner pointed out, however, that the majority of cases were reported on the lower East Side, indicating sleeping sickness might have resulted from congested living quarters.

Dr. Simon Flexner, in a clinical paper recently, traced the origin of the disease in this country to 1918-19. He continued:

"It is possible to trace cases of lethargic or epidemic encephalitis now arising in this country to an outbreak which occurred in Vienna and neighboring parts of Austria in the winter of 1918 and in America in the following year. In Austria the early cases were ascribed to sausage poisoning, in England to botulism arising from various foods. This error is not remarkable. Both countries were laboring under an unprecedented condition of food shortage.

MICROBE BLAMED

"Ultimately in both countries the notion of food origin became untenable, and the disease was recognized as arising independently of diet and other usual conditions of life, and came to be viewed as probably of microbic origin and of communicable nature.

"The outstanding feature is the lethargy, which is progressive in character and present in the majority of cases (80 per cent?). It may appear suddenly, but usually is gradual in onset. The patient becomes apathetic and dull, appears dazed or stupid, the hours of sleep become prolonged, and he is hard to wake in the morning. Moreover he may fall asleep at odd hours—while engaged at work or at mealtime.

"Its duration is variable—a week, a month, or even longer—up to four months. Even after long periods recovery may follow."

Hawaii's Governor Has Fifth Grandson

HONOLULU, Feb 28 (correspondence of The TRIBUNE).—Governor Charles J. McCarthy became a grandfather for the eighth time a few days ago when his fifth grandson was born. He already has three granddaughters. The governor is in the custom of making a gift of $100 to each of the successive grandchildren.

Woman Starts Suit

Sally was in tears. "I'm through, George. Absolutely through. I've had the most miserable day. No, I'm not angry with you, dear, but everything has gone wrong. I've tried to be real economical. I've spoilt everything."

"What is it, old girl? What's the big idea? Did you burn the dinner or did the cat run away, or what?"

"No—but I needed a new suit and I didn't feel that I could afford to buy one now, so I bought material to make one, and I cut it out wrong and I've ruined it. Simply ruined it and I know I'll have to make my old winter one do now."

"No, you won't. While I was getting a coat at Cherry's today I saw some nifty reasonable suits for you. So down you go and pick one out. I can pay for them as I want to. The store for women is at 516 13th street; the men's store 528 13th street. So no more weeps, please, and let's not hear of you trying to make clothes again when we have such an economical way of buying them."—Advertisement.

MRS. HAYNES FULL OF JOY OF LIVING

"I have gained twenty pounds since I began taking Tanlac, and all my strength and energy have returned," declared Mrs. E. Haynes, 1874 East Tenth street, Oakland.

"My stomach was in such a bad condition that I was afraid to eat on account of the misery, which always followed. I was unable to digest anything and my food lay in my stomach like a lump of lead and I became so bloated that I couldn't bear the pressure of my clothes. The gas in my stomach caused heartburn and my chest to be so choked up I could hardly get my breath. I maintained a very strict diet entirely leaving off all starchy food and meat until there remained only a few foods that I could eat and consequently I lost strength, weight and my whole system was terribly run down.

"Acting upon the advice of a friend, I began taking Tanlac and soon realized splendid results, even before I had finished my first bottle. I have taken four bottles now and my appetite is fine, I eat heartily of anything I want, and the sourness, heartburn, fermentation, gas and bloating have entirely disappeared. I sleep sound every night and, in fact, I am just full of the joy of living. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly to anyone suffering with stomach trouble."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley by The Owl Drug Company Stores and Eberly's Quality Pharmacy, Alameda.—Advertisement.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually, but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TO IMPROVE YOUR COMPLEXION

Use the Popular Black and White Beauty Treatment

You should not use anything that hides any faded, pimply, blotchy condition of your skin. Such applications last only a few hours, and are injurious to the delicate skin texture.

Black and White Ointment applied just before retiring draws to the surface impurities of the skin and removes them without irritation. A small portion applied each night for a short while will make your skin soft and smooth.

Black and White Soap must be used in connection to cleanse the pores of all impurities, which daily accumulate and cause blackheads and pimples.

'Listening In' Story Denied By Soderberg

Denial of news stories printed in Oakland and San Francisco papers that he had "listened in" at the city hall telephone switchboard was made today by Commissioner of Public Works Frederick Soderberg. The city official admitted that he had visited the telephone room on the night in question, but only on a tour of inspection. His statement follows:

"A statement appeared recently to the effect that one night last week I visited the telephone exchange in the city hall and 'listened in' to the conversations coming into the city hall.

"That statement is untrue, and is made without any foundation in fact. Such practice, even by the telephone operators themselves, is absolutely forbidden by my office. Prior to my coming into the city hall I understand that it was a common practice of political enemies to secure information through the assistance of city hall operators, but I believe that at the present time the practice has been wholly discontinued. At any rate, when I took charge of this department I issued orders that 'listening in' upon the city hall telephone lines would not be tolerated.

"I understand that the press statement was based upon a city hall rumor which was intended entirely as a joke upon me. However, its appearance in the press gives the matter sufficient importance so that the statement should not go undenied. I may say further that if any information should come to me that 'listening in' upon city hall telephone lines, either by city hall operators, or other persons, has occurred, I shall take immediate action to stop it. I think the practice is despicable and beneath the dignity that should accompany the transaction of city hall business.

"FREDERICK SODERBERG,
"Commissioner of Public Works."

NEED OF VETERAN RELIEF EXPLAINED

The committee in charge of arrangements for the benefit ball of the Associated Federal Students, composed of disabled war veterans, at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium, Saturday evening, April 2, yesterday issued a statement explaining the disposition to be made of the funds raised through the dance.

The statement follows:

"We represent but a small percentage of the disabled men and women of the world war and we are not so selfish as to forget our disabled comrades who are not so fortunate as we. There are men and women in and out of hospitals who need help and there is no one who can understand the problems of the disabled men as they themselves.

RELIEF FUND NEEDED

"This fund will enable us as an organization to give relief to any disabled veteran, whether he is a member of this organization or not, provided he is at the time receiving compensation or rehabilitation from the government. In case he is not receiving such assistance and deserves it, we will not only give him temporary aid, but will try to secure Federal aid for him.

"The proceeds of this dance will not be given to these veterans, but will be loaned to them on their honor, to be paid back as soon as possible, but without security other than their word and reputation.

MONEY RESPONSIBILITY

"The board of directors of this fund, five of whom will be chosen from this organization and two representatives of the banking institution where the funds are deposited, will be responsible for all money and will pass upon each case and the merits thereof."

Committee workers in charge of arrangements of the ball report that the advance sale of tickets for the affair indicate that it will be one of the best attended affairs of its kind ever staged in the Eastbay district.

Delightful New Vanishing Cream, Containing True Buttermilk Quickly Shows a Decided Improvement

The old-time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms.

Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first-class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's" Buttermilk Cream.

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream, gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

To get the best effect, be sure to follow the simple directions. Any first class drug or department store can supply you and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it. The Owl Drug Co.—Advertisement.

$75,000 LOOT IN MAIL VAN THEFT

Continuing their so-far unsuccessful search for the three masked highwaymen who last Tuesday night held up and robbed a United States mail van at Nineteenth and Adeline streets of first-class and registered mail pouches, postal authorities today gave out the first definite information concerning the valuation of the loot secured by the robbers. The total valuables contained in the mail sacks amounted to $75,000, Chief Postal Inspector S. H. Morse declared early today.

The loot consisted of currency and securities. In addition to the money there were about $5000 in negotiable securities in the pouches taken from the mail truck by the bandits, it was made known today. Most of the non-negotiable securities were being forwarded to banks and bonding houses. Many of these can be duplicated.

The currency was in $10 and $20 bills. This was being forwarded in the registered mail channels. About $300 in Liberty bonds were also being forwarded for collection.

An exhaustive examination, conducted secretly by the government operatives, has been under way since the robbery. Seven suspects have been taken in custody, but all have been released. However, postal inspectors admitted that they had in their possession several new clews to the robbery.

The holdup occurred while the truck was being driven by Albert Renard, a postal employee. Miss Lois Willar, 804 Sixteenth street, Renard's fiancee, was riding with him on the truck at the time of the robbery.

Carver of Initials On Woman Is Held

PARIS, Ill., March 8.—Glenn Forsman, a farmer, charged with having carved his initials on the breast of Mrs. Harry Rogers, was held last night under $31,000 bonds. Following an effort to obtain his release today additional charges were filed against him, including threats to kill, intimidation and two statutory charges.

ARRESTED DRY AGENT FAILS TO GET BAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Unable to furnish $5000 bail, Adam L. Estelle, prohibition enforcement officer until his arrest yesterday on a charge of padding his expense accounts, is held in jail, pending his hearing today before United States Commissioner Francis Krull.

Estelle was arrested yesterday as he was waiting to appear as a witness in a prohibition violation case. According to allegations made by the government, Estelle collected doubly from the government for expense money he claims to have expended. It is charged that he made two trips to Portland, Ore., within the last six weeks. Though traveling on government transportation, it is alleged, he collected expense money from the United States marshal at Portland. Upon his return to this city he again put in a claim for a like amount, it is alleged by the government.

Estelle first came before public notice several months ago when he arrested Andrew J. Gallagher, former sealer of weights and measures, for transporting wine from his home here to Larkspur.

RAILROAD WILL CIVILIZE BALKANS

ROME, March 8.—The "Adriatico" is the name that will be given to the new line of railway that is to connect Belgrade with the Adriatic seaport of Cattaro and which is expected to work wonders in carrying modern civilization into certain sections of the Balkans.

Where the railway was the principal factor in carrying modern progress into the western portions of the United States half a century ago, the lack of railways appears to have been the determining factor in leaving portions of the Balkan peninsula in a state of primitiveness that is a surprise to Americans.

However, Yugo-Slavia's new railway project is intended more especially as a commercial short-cut to Europe, rather than purely a means of civilization. The "Adriatico" from Cattaro will connect up with Brindisi on the Italian side with huge ferry-boats.

DR. J. E. EGEBERG DIES IN HOSPITAL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Dr. Jules C. Egeberg, assistant chief surgeon of the Emergency hospital service, died at the University of California hospital this morning following two operations. Dr. Egeberg was taken suddenly ill on Friday night and hurried to the hospital.

A first operation left him in a weakened state, but complications developed and the surgeons deemed it necessary to operate a second time. This was done yesterday. The physician could not stand the strain and succumbed today.

He was 40 years old and had originally been a steward in the emergency service. He worked by day and studied at night until he was able to pass the examination for surgeon. Later he became an assistant surgeon in the Emergency hospital and had been assistant chief surgeon for the last five years. A widow survives him.

Baby Shunned Because of Eczema?

John M. Shonting, 601 Main St., Lancaster, Ohio, writes:

"My baby boy contracted a severe case of Eczema which covered his face and head. Visitors to our home would shun my child because he looked so terrible. I procured a bottle of D. D. D. In an incredibly short time my boy was cured."

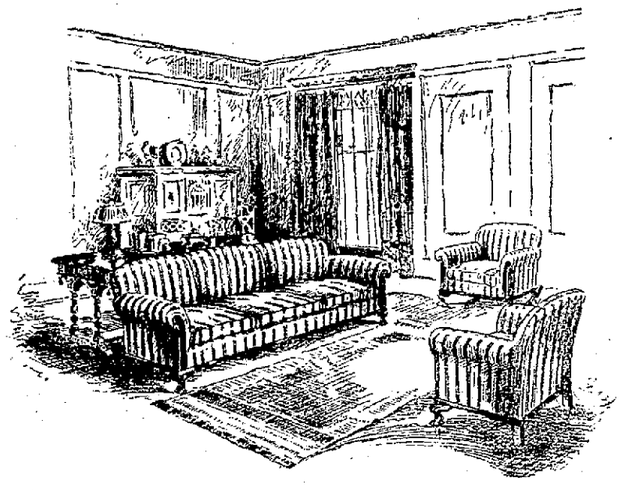

Thousands of letters from grateful users of D. D. D. prove its wonderful results in healing torturing skin disease. The very first application allays the itching and burning. Why not try a bottle at once and be convinced? Your money back if the first bottle does not bring relief. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

DEL MONTE POLO SEASON

The Del Monte polo tournament March 19 to April 3, will attract many from the bay region.

The play this season promises to be attended with more than usual interest. Practically all the polo clubs in California will have their representatives on the field and each will have its own following.

Motorists will come from Southern California to watch Carleton Burke and the players of the Midwick Club The Point Judith Tigers, an aggregation of star Eastern players, will have the support of the many visitors who will be on hand from out of State. Santa Barbara, San Mateo, and Del Monte will also have their supporters.

The Hotel Del Monte and Del Monte Lodge will be the scene of many social affairs during the course of the tournament.

The next sporting event of importance at Del Monte is the Pebble Beach Gold Vase golf tournament. This will be held at the seaside course at Pebble Beach and the residents of the fashionable residence colony there will likely have many affairs of an interesting social nature.

Citizenship To Be Topic of Women's Clubs

By EDNA B. KINARD

A Citizenship Week in June; a Citizenship Day on July 4; and a New Voters' Day in the fall, are three projects which the California Federation of Women's Clubs have undertaken to stress the importance of the individual in the machinery of government and the responsibility which belongs to the men and women, native and foreign born, upon whom is bestowed the ballot. Official endorsement was given the movements at the last meeting of the executive board, presided over by Mrs Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, president.

Every department of the state federation this year has been thrown into the Citizenship program which in the carrying out has become one of the greatest achievements of clubwomen in the entire country. It has been worked out and fostered by Mrs. Frank A. Gibson of Los Angeles, chairman of Americanization in the Department of Education and member of the state immigration and housing commission. To stress the movement before the public the three celebrations are suggested with an urgent appeal to all local clubs throughout California to participate in appropriate ceremony marking the days.

Citizenship week which June will welcome will be devoted to an effort to bring about an understanding of the dignity of participating in popular government. Names of new citizens will be enrolled and made public. The more elaborate plans of the state body call for a banquet which will honor this band of men and women.

The suggestion that July 4 be made Citizenship Day comes from Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the general Federation of Women's Clubs, and launches a national effort. Special recognition of the new voters will be made on this occasion also.

New Voters' Day in the fall is a pet project of the clubwomen which will not be allowed to pass unobserved.

A day with the Poets of Persia is announced by the Pacific Coast Women's Press Club for Monday afternoon, the program drawing its interest from the presence of Professor Janabe Fazel of Teheran, Persia, and his interpreter, Mirza Ahmad Sohabta, formerly secretary of the Persian Legation in Washington, D. C. Professor Fazel will wear the national costume of his country. He will introduce to the California writers of verse and fiction, the famous poets of Persia.

"The Martyrdom of Kurat ul Ayn, the Persian Poetess," will be read by Miss Isabel Munson. Mrs. Charles Swasey will render piano numbers. To vary the international program southern dialect selections by Miss Faynetta Munro, and an original reading by his author, Mrs. Juliette Knox, are announced.

An appeal to the women of the state to assist in the erection of an Ethel Moore hall on the Mills College campus is being sent out by California branch, Association of Collegiate Alumnae. The communication says:

"What more fitting task could we put our hands to than that of commemorating the service rendered by Ethel Moore to women's education and at the same time aiding in time of need one of our own colleges which she served untiringly as a trustee the last five years of her life."

Mrs. Herbert Hoover is general chairman of the memorial committee. Contributions may be sent to the Ethel Moore Hall Fund, Miss Mabel L. Pierce, 1000 Chestnut street, San Francisco.

The appeal is made in the names of Mrs. W. B. Brookings, Miss Pierce, Dr. Adelaide Brown, Mrs. E. E. Brownell, Miss Minnie Bunker, Miss Marcha A. Chickering, Miss Susie Dyer, Mrs. A. E. Graupner, Mrs. T. T. Gregory, Mrs. Henry R. Hatfield, Miss Marian W. Leale, Mrs. N. B. Livermore, Mrs. W. P Lucas, Mrs. A. F. Morrison, Miss Frances W. McLean, Mrs. E. J. Mott, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, Miss Marian Ransom, Miss Edith Slack, Mrs. E. B. Stanwood, Miss Lucy Ward Stebbins, Mrs. Jesse H. Steinhart, Mrs W. R. Thorsen, Mrs Fred C. Turner, Mrs. Willard O. Wayman.

If Mrs. Fred McDonald achieves her ambition each of the 1500 mothers who send students to the Oakland High school will be enrolled in the Parent-Teacher Association. The club will be two months old on Thursday and to celebrate, the officers, led by Mrs. McDonald, are asking the parents to enjoy an informal reception, a program and tea hour with them. There is plenty to be accomplished, but before the task is undertaken, the plea is being put forth for all the mothers to come together to talk about it. The Thursday reception will be held at the school.

An Aid to Wearing This Season's Fashions

(Helps to Beauty)

Here is a simple, unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.—Advertisement.

PENALTIES FOR GERMANY

many having failed to accept the Paris de for payment of reparations, and having to offer any counter proposal that merited consideration, the Allied Supreme War l has determined to enforce the penalties n-compliance prescribed and authorized in eaty of Versailles. Military forces of , Belgium and Great Britain are now pro g with the further occupation of German ry. They purpose to seize the important rial district east of the Rhine and nearest olland frontier, and which includes the asin, Dusseldorf, Essen and other populous s. The Allied advance may spread south—ient upon future German action—and in- Nassau and Wurtemburg, and possibly Ba situation is disturbing to all Europe. Ger under the present regime, seems disposed to any length in order to evade restitution e crimes of the war. Present members of binet are inclined to place more value on personal reputation and "face" than upon lfare of their country. The proposal which n Minister Simons made to the Allies at ndon conference was impossible of accept- as Berlin well knew.

their recent meeting in Paris, the Allied ers agreed that about fifty-five billion dol- as the minimum that Germany should be to pay for reparations, plus a twelve per- ax on exports for a certain period. They pon the advice of their financial experts, ded that Germany was able to arrange e payment of this amount.

Simons countered with a proposal to pay billion gold marks, about seven and a quar- llion dollars. There is a wide gap between dgment of the Allies and the disposition of esent German government. Had Germany d an amount which would have been an ation of a good faith desire to comply with pirit of the reparations provisions of the she previously had ratified, the Allies ly would have receded somewhat from original demands in order to reach a peace- compromise.

this connection, it is interesting to recall he financial section of the American com n to the peace conference was the first to it an opinion as to Germany's capacity to reparations. This American committee of ial and economic experts was headed by Thomas W. Lamont, who, while holding to osition that Germany must be required to the fullest possible restitution, reached the usion that to destroy or strangle into sis the financial and industrial life of Ger- would defeat the ends of reparation. And an examination that covered several months, committee expressed the opinion that Ger- could pay $35,000,000,000 providing no s restraints were placed upon the function her economic machine, such as export du boycotts, etc.

s sum is not sufficient to repair all the dam Germany inflicted, and in view of the con ns of the Allied governments it appears a generous estimate for Germany. It is icant here only for emphasizing the impossi- etty proposal of the Berlin government. at consequences will attend the further ation of German territory is not possible to say. One thing seems certain; the finan- urden of Germany will be increased by the of the extra military operations, for Ger- ultimately will have to pay. A blockade the establishment of Allied customs agencies ports and along the Rhine will cripple her icial recources. Further hardships will be d upon the German people. The thing most d seems to be a new government at Berlin will abandon the old tactics of bluff and and courageously face the situation as it ally exists.

THE PANAMA QUARREL

sident Harding has taken a commendable e in reminding Panama and Costa Rica that must not neglect any step that will peaceably settle their pending dispute over territory. It is an obligation upon the United States to defend the integrity and uphold the stability of the Republic of Panama and it thus follows that it is the duty of this country to strive for an amicable settlement of any disputes between Panama and her neighbors.

In the present case Panama seems to be under the necessity of proving her claims to the disputed Coto district She previously submitted the controversy to arbitration The arbitrator, the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, decided in favor of Costa Rica. Panama has declined to accept the award She must now submit new evidence of the justice of her attitude.

Meantime this dispute is not, contrary to some suggestions, a subject to refer to the League of Nations It is a political matter and if the Monroe Doctrine is to be upheld European nations are unauthorized to meddle in the political affairs of the American republics. It will be recalled that the Monroe Doctrine was excepted from those political arrangements and principles which the League of Nations proposed to supplant

FOOD RESEARCH

A Food Research Institute for the study of all problems of production, distribution and consumption of food is to be established at Stanford University An endowment of $700,000 has been bestowed on the university by the Carnegie Foundation for this purpose. The need of such an institute was suggested by Mr Herbert Hoover, according to the official announcement by the foundation, and it is understood that Mr Hoover, who is an alumnus of Stanford, also recommended that that university become the home of the food research institute

But there is a more substantial reason for selecting Stanford as the institution best qualified for this potentially important new project It is the repository of the great and unique collection of documentary material relative to the economic, and particularly to the food supply, phase of the great war by Mr Hoover and his European relief organizations Mr Hoover became identified with this work when the first Belgian refugees from Antwerp reached London in August, 1914, and he is still identified with it in a large way. Stanford now possesses a museum of literature and exhibits on food production, transportation, distribution and administration of food relief the like of which does not exist anywhere else in the world.

Some idea of the purposes of the new food institute may be gained from the following paragraphs from the official statement by the Carnegie Foundation:

"The value of such an institute as it is now proposed to establish also was emphasized by experience during the war, when the study of food supply in its different phases was necessary in order to attain maximum efficiency in the nutrition of the nations involved. The knowledge thus acquired clearly indicates the great importance of continued research effort. The general field of the institute will be the problems arising after food has left the farmer's hands.

"A special feature of the work of the institute will be the scientific study of the marketing and distribution of food products. The objects of the institute, however, are thoroughly practical, and will, it is hoped, contribute to the welfare of the producer and consumer by eliminating present wastes in the process of marketing nearly all kinds of food. The objects of the institute are not only important from the standpoint of the farmer and consumer, but have a direct effect on the question of proper nutrition for the nation."

The whole world will benefit by this institute if it is conducted according to the ideas that have entered into its establishment. The problem of food is vital. It never seemed so serious until the war demonstrated how large and fatal a deficit between demand and distributed supply may exist. Stanford University, it is announced, will open its scientific laboratories to the food institute and in other ways cooperate to make its work effective. In so doing it will attract the attention of the world and Stanford is to be congratulated on the new eminence about to be attained.

Europe does give us something! There is the typhus, for instance.

A BIG NAVY OR A BIG ARMY

The Navy Department, under the Harding administration, will be a consistent friend of the policy of a bigger and better sea force.

Edwin Denby, who has been slated for this portfolio is quoted as squarely opposing the "little navy" advocates, who would have Congress and the government embark on a program contemplating an immediate and persistent reduction in the sea defense program

"I believe," he is quoted as stating, "that the present building program, with perhaps some alterations suggested by experience and careful thought, should proceed We are a power of such extent that a navy the equal of any other seems justly and naturally called for"

The United States is at the cross-roads of a great decision. It must prepare to assume an equality of power and responsibility on the high seas or it must consent voluntarily to assume a subordinate position to Great Britain.

If it is to protect its foreign trade and safeguard its shores against invasion, it must have a navy second to none The second navy in the world is little better than none at all when opposed to the first navy. The logic of sea warfare is irresistible It recognizes no middle ground between success and annihilation.

If the United States is not to have the first navy, then it must be prepared to rely in future, as in the past, upon the wardenship of the seas long maintained by Britain and must consent to share in the benefits of a sea service rendered by England's navy, for which it does not directly pay

As between these two alternatives Denby has chosen the former. His is the more manly, the more self-respecting course America must have a navy second to none or, if it is fair to its taxpayers, it must abandon its navy and consecrate its attention upon the development, through universal military service, of a land defense that will render it forever safe from invasion —Seattle Times.

NOTES and COMMENT

A Kansas paper is authority for the statement that the story about the Californian from a certain boom section, happening in at a funeral, and taking part by admitting that he was not well acquainted with the deceased, but would like to say a few words about Los Angeles, has penetrated that State with "Wichita" substituted for the genuine place But the story would have no characteristic setting with that substitution

MYSTERY IN ILLINOIS

Illinois has a mystery In 1868 the capitol of the State was built, and its cornerstone carried the name of Robert G Ingersoll, then the attorney-general of Illinois along with the names of other State officers

Colonel Ingersoll was a lawyer an orator of extraordinary gifts and an agnostic—one of those men who view all religious matters in a "show me" spirit

After the capitol at Springfield was built it became a frequent target for lightning, and superstitious minds began to attribute the fact to the presence of Ingersoll's name on the cornerstone Meanwhile the Colonel was writing and delivering a series of lectures in opposition to the Christian religion and all religions based on a personal Deity. They were exquisitely written, and very fetching to minds not trained in theology, but they destroyed their author politically and nipped in the bud a career for which the brilliant man was in every other way well fitted.

Now it is discovered that the original cornerstone of the capitol has disappeared and another has been put in its place—and nobody knows when or how it was done! Once a terrible bolt of lightning loosened it, we are told, and now that it has mysteriously vanished we have but to await a few seasons of thunderstorms to jump to conclusions If lightning no longer attacks the capitol we may as well go back to the mythology of the Romans in Caesar's time!—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Where are you going
Whirling and swirling
Abandoned and gay?
Little leaves painted leaves,
Heed thou my warning—
Thy vanity endeth in earth and decay

Little leaves little leaves,
What are you saying,
Tilting the wind
In your glittering showers?
Little leaves sainted leaves
Soaring exultant—

"My people," says the German ex-Kaiser in an interview with a Dutch journalist—still cherishing, apparently, the idea that they are his personal subjects—"my people has betrayed itself its God and Me" The crescendo effect of this arrangement is, for rhetorical effect, far stronger than the more familiar "Me—und Gott"

For "twenty-six difficult years" the Kaiser "alone led the fight to keep the peace of my folk"—led it by leading the race for competitive armament "The sword of peace" was struck out of his hands, with the olive branch those hands were less familiar Now, because Germany has renounced her allegiance, "the world looks darker every day God scourges the whole world, which in dethroning emperors and kings has denied Him

About YOUR HEALTH

What "Myasthenia" Is And How It Is Best Avoided

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

One of the late and little-heard-of diseases is 'myasthenia gravis" 'Myasthenia" is a big word, but in plain language it means muscle weakness The whole name well describes the disease-serious weakness of the muscles of the eyes face, neck and head

In the lowest portion of the skull is a part of the brain called the 'medulla oblongata' This is the upper continuation of the spinal chord It is sometimes spoken of as the brain stem" because it is narrow as compared with the much larger and globular brain proper, and it is not unlike the stem to a mammoth apple The medulla is also known as the 'bulb'

It is the nerve center of the highest functions of life The breathing nerves and part, at least, of the heart nerves are centered and controlled here The nerves that supply the teeth and jaws the nerves to some of the eye muscles the nerves of hearing and of throat and voice control, the nerves to the tongue and neck as well as nerves to the muscles of the body and limbs begin in the brain stem or bulb

When this part of our anatomy is diseased there results a loss of power in the muscles supplied from this region This effect is called bulbar paralysis" when it is extremely bad, and you can readily appreciate the appropriateness of the term

In myasthenia the trouble is in the medulla or bulb At first there is not an actual paralysis of the muscles controlled from the bulb, but there is such weakness of them that they tire very, very easily Every effort exhausts the patient His eyelids droop, there is difficulty in breathing chewing becomes almost impossible, swallowing is a painful ordeal If the arm is lifted several times the movement is more and more difficult, and finally impossible until a period of rest has ensued

There are many ups and downs in the condition of the patient While the disease is distractingly slow, lasting for years and years, there is always the hope of recovery It usually affects persons under 30 years of age, and even under 20, and, of course takes a lot out of one of the best periods of life

Just what effect the "ductless glands" of the body may have upon this disease is purely speculative We are not fully informed, as yet, regarding all the functions of the so-called "internal secretions"

Overwork, physical or mental, in the high school and college age, or at the age when young people "go to work" may have something to do with the trouble

This is always a critical age It takes a little time to get adjusted to life's harness The enthusiasm of youth or the painful necessity that drives so many to the grindstone of existence may urge to greater activity and longer hours than the muscular and nervous systems can endure Good sense must prevail, and observance of the rules of good living will forestall the dangers of a breakdown It is better to avoid myasthenia gravis, for instance, than it is to carry on the long fight necessary to conquer it

OAKLAND SCHOOL BUILDINGS NOW WELL PROTECTED

New Fire Fighting Equipment Insures Safety, Says Manager Barzee.

With $4000 worth of new fire-fighting equipment, the school department is now in a position to handle almost any emergency, according to a report tendered the Board of Education last night by Business Manager Lloyd Barzee.

Barzee says that conditions have changed somewhat since the $4000 was appropriated but the department is keeping pace with the changes. He says:

"A great many minor changes have taken place in the buildings of the Oakland public schools. Buildings have been added, old buildings have been altered and one entirely new school has been created. Therefore the distribution of our fire-fighting apparatus has necessitated, and will continue to necessitate, more or less continuous readjustment.

CONDITIONS STUDIED.

"In the adjustment and distribution of fire-fighting apparatus the varying conditions in the schools have been carefully studied. We have a few Class A buildings of fireproof construction. We have a number of Class B and Class C buildings which are nearly fireproof. A large portion of our buildings, however, are of a wood construction and not in any sense fireproof. In studying the problem of protection from fire, other conditions which go to make up the degree of risk have also been taken into consideration, such as location of buildings, nearness to other buildings and proximity to other means of protection.

"In the installation of additional hose reels and additional fire extinguishers, an effort has been made to cover the danger points in school plants, such as furnaces, manual training rooms, home economics rooms, science laboratories, assembly halls, motion picture booths and isolated frame buildings.

APPARATUS INSTALLED.

"Fire-fighting apparatus is now installed on every floor of every school building, and in most cases there are both hose reels and fire extinguishers on every floor. One piece of fire-fighting apparatus has been made available for every group of portable buildings. Since the time of purchase of additional fire-fighting equipment by the Board of Education last summer, sixty-one additional large extinguishers have been placed in the schools, sixty-two additional hose reels have been installed and twenty-five small extinguishers of the Pyrene type have been added.

"There is now a total of 237 large extinguishers in the schools and a total of fifty-seven small extinguishers, making a grand total of nearly 300 extinguishers in our buildings. There are now in place and ready for use a total of 244 hose reels."

Rodeo-Crockett Road Cleared For Travel

Contrary to the general rumors prevailing concerning the condition of the State highway between Rodeo and Crockett, motor travel will have no difficulty on this route.

Because of landslides across the highway at a point just beyond Selby, after the last heavy storms, a report became common that the road was closed to travel.

The State Highway Commission has a crew working at the place where the slide occurred and they have made repairs sufficient to safely clear the road.

A watchman is on duty at night time to direct travel.

"Jehovah" Sykes To Be Held in Denver

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Joshua "Jehovah" Sykes is scheduled to remain in custody at Denver until A. M. Dean, convicted with him and for whom a bench warrant was issued at the same time the warrant was issued for Sykes, is arrested, United States Marshal Holohan said today. Dean's arrest in Denver is expected soon, according to the marshal.

When Dean is in custody Holohan said he will send a deputy to Denver and both prisoners then will be taken to McNeil's island federal penitentiary to begin serving sentences for obstructing the draft.

Partheneia to Show Color And Art in Masque Dances

MISS HELEN BELL, who will dance in women's masque at University of California

Nymphs, Indian Maids, Poppy Chorus and Like Pictures to Be Seen in Faculty Glade

BERKELEY, March 8.—Coy Indian maids, dashing Spanish dancing girls, graceful water nymphs and colorful choruses typifying California flowers and birds will be seen in "The Lilies of Mirones," to be presented as this year's "Partheneia" Masque in Faculty Glade by the college girls.

Miss Dorothy Wilkinson is in charge of designing the robes to be worn in the masque.

One dancing group, "The Flames," will have costumes made up of many brilliant colorings in shades of red, orange, yellow, green and purple blue. The colors which run in waving lines are to be cut out of paper and pasted on a foundation of buckram. Miss Helen Bell is one of the solo dancers.

Water nymphs will have flowing robes of soft green and blue, with long threads of glittering material that hang from shoulder to wrist and almost touch the ground. The poppy chorus will wear Peruvian Indian costumes of green with a large and elaborate petal-shaped headdress of orange, copied from the California poppy.

"Mirones," the heroine of the masque, whose part will be played by Barbara Bronson, a freshman, will be gowned in a white bridal costume, with a white mantilla draped over a Spanish comb. Senoritas will be dressed in typical old Spanish costumes.

Symbols on the Indian robes have been taken from the old California Indians, and will stand out in bold relief from the green background of Faculty Glade.

Rebuttal Is Order in Petersen Case

The twentieth hearing of the appeal of former Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen, against his dismissal by Commissioner Morse will be held tonight before the Civil Service Board.

Both sides have completed their cases and have practically submitted them to the Board, but stray ends of testimony are now being taken. Tonight City Attorney Hagan will bring witnesses in rebuttal of certain points made by the Petersen forces, and it is rumored that the Petersen forces may then essay to rebut the rebuttal of the city attorney.

Thomas Knightly's Funeral Is Held

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Thomas Knightly, California pioneer, and for over 40 years an employee of the Southern Pacific company, who died Sunday at the Providence hospital. Services were held at St. Anthony's church. Interment was at St. Mary's cemetery.

The deceased was the father of W. T. Knightly, of the Bank of Hayward, and Frank P. Knightly, in the service of the Southern Pacific company.

COUNCIL INVITES LEGISLATORS TO VISIT OAKLAND

Plan Includes Demonstration Of Need of Disputed Strip Of Waterfront Land.

A resolution to invite members of the Legislature to Oakland during their visit to Berkeley to inspect the University of California, was adopted today by the City Council, which intends to give the 120 legislators a view of the waterfront and a demonstration of Oakland's desire concerning the disputed tract of waterfront land between Pine street and Lake Merritt.

The matter was brought up by Commissioner Soderberg, who remarked that the Legislature would be in Berkeley and suggested that the city of Oakland make every effort to induce the legislators to come.

BILL STILL PENDING

"Two years ago," said Soderberg, "I endeavored to obtain title from the state to this waterfront land. At that time my plans were blocked and the bill was forced to die in the Senate committee. Again this year, at my request, a similar bill has been introduced and, is now pending before the Legislature.

"It is my belief that the city of Oakland should endeavor to have the members of the Legislature come to the city and show them the waterfront activities of Oakland's harbor. Then we shall be able to call their special attention to the portion of the waterfront to which we desire to obtain title from the state."

OTHERS MAY JOIN

Soderberg was authorized to consult with the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations, which may also extend invitations to the legislators, urging them to come.

The City Council today appropriated $250 for the coming Parent-Teachers' convention and $250 for the colored Masons' conclave. The money will come from the entertainment fund.

An appropriation of $2356.13 was made from the harbor appropriation fund for new steel suction pipe for the municipal dredger.

Parent-Teacher Club To Dedicate Hall

Plans for the dedication of the new assembly hall in the Lafayette school will be made tomorrow at a meeting of the Lafayette Parent-Teacher Association.

The club entertained the faculty of the school at a "Get-Together" luncheon last week, when Mrs. H. C. Tardy and Mrs. P. J. Kramer, leaders in the Congress of Mothers, were the guests of honor. Mrs. A. Feno presided. Music was rendered by Miss A. Babis and a girl's chorus.

Michigan Women To Assemble Tomorrow

The Bay Cities Group of Michigan Women will meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the College Women's Club, 2642 Bancroft way, Berkeley. Michigan women and their friends are invited. Mrs. Ornbaum, recently returned from Ann Arbor, will be the speaker. A scholarship fund tea will follow at 3 p. m., the members from the Great Lakes college the hostesses.

Condemnation Suit Is Filed For City

Condemnation proceedings to pave the way for the opening of Seventeenth street, were filed in the Superior Court today.

"I hope that the legal part of the work can be completed in six months," says City Attorney Hagan. "It is a big job, involving several parcels of land or parts thereof."

Dance Frock Is Swatted As Indecent

The female of the species is getting it from all sides today.

Paul L. Faye, associate curator of the museum of anthropology at the University of California, links her mode of dressing hair with the Peruvian savages of days gone by.

Rev. H. W. Neidman, Portland pastor who is visiting in Berkeley, takes a fling at her clothes—or rather her lack of clothes.

Says the college professor: "In the efforts of Peruvian warriors to make their heads look a little more attractive than in the natural state, interesting results were produced." The "interesting results" he adds, are still being produced in the modern feminine in changing contour lines of her head not to her liking.

But the cruelest blow of all comes from the visiting minister who has been attending the evangelistic services of Rev. John Brown in Berkeley.

"Never in the world's history has there been so much of vulgarity, indecency and immorality brazenly flaunted in public view as in the modern so-called dancing frocks," says Rev. Neidman. "No pure minded person can look upon such dances as we have at present, much less dance them, without being guilty of mortal sin."

The minister says, moreover, that he knows whereof he speaks, for to gain first-hand information he visited exclusive clubs and hotels in San Francisco—and college dances in Berkeley.

"Perhaps entire nakedness would not be so suggestive because more repulsive," says the pastor. "Upright and demure maidens dance these things and while dancing are as near naked as they can well be. Dancing in some of the San Francisco halls is so unspeakably low that it is indescribable. If the present style of feminine attire keeps on diminishing from the top to the bottom, soon there will be only a string left around the middle!"

To harken back to the ancient Peruvians, the college expert says:

"Some years ago women wore high pompadours; today, they carefully muffle up their ears. In spite of minor departures, there seems to be for the elegant female but these two main ways of modifying the appearance of her hair. When a length effect has lived out its novelty, a breadth effect is tried," he says.

The same two lines of variation may be detected, Professor Faye declares, in the custom of head-deformation or head-compression among the ancient Peruvians.

Of course, the anthropologist admits, the mountain dwellers of the Andes could not make over their heads at a moment's notice, but in the succession of generations alterations were gradually effected.

Funeral Service For Fruit Grower Held

Funeral services for Frank D. Pierce, horticulturist of Fair Oaks, near Sacramento, were held in Sacramento today. His death followed an illness of several months. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Ettie E. Pierce, sister of Charles A. Emlay of the Oakland Emergency hospital, and a brother, W. E. Pierce, of Los Angeles.

VOTE IS LIGHT IN ALAMEDA'S CITY ELECTION

Incumbent Councilmen Confident of Retaining Seats; Two Other Candidates.

ALAMEDA, March 8.—Alameda is experiencing a quiet election today, despite the fact that three councilmen out of five candidates are fighting for an opportunity of managing the city government. According to City Clerk William Varcoe and election officers it appears as though an unusually light vote will be cast. But a small portion of the voters had appeared at the polls by noon. Alameda has a 12,000 registration.

The candidates for the city council are Mayor Frank Otis, C. C. Adams and Major C. L. Tilden, who are at present on the job and seeking re-election, and Ernest Neiss, a prominent business man of the east end district, and Henry F. Schlichting, secretary of the Alameda Improvement club.

A city auditor and a tax collector will also be elected. Oswald Lubbock and Fred J. Croll, who are the candidates respectively for the two positions, have no opposition.

U. C. Quintet Will Not Remain in C. N. Basketball League

Walter Christie, chairman of the California-Nevada Basketball league, split some real news for the followers of that league by announcing that he had allowed a protest of the College of Pacific against the St. Ignatius team, using two ineligible men. College of Pacific was allowed a 2 to 0 win. St. Ignatius had previously won the game.

Another bit of news from Christie is that he has cancelled the date between California and Nevada teams. Nevada refused to play the California team because their coach insisted in sending a third team instead of the first squad. Nevada wanted the game awarded to them on forfeit, and so did California. Christie stated that he was throwing the date out for the good of basketball. The California team will not enter the California-Nevada league next season, it was stated today.

Women Ape Ancient Peruvians, Is Claim

Modern women and the ancient warriors of Peru are strangely alike, Paul L. Faye, associate curator of the anthropology museum of the University of California is telling the public. The difference is in time. Whereas modern woman effects the change in her head line overnight, the Peruvian warrior took several generations. A collection of highly deformed Peruvian skulls on exhibition this week in the Egyptian room of the museum of anthropology of the University in San Francisco is used by Professor Faye to prove his point. The skulls vary in shape from the elongated to the flat, according to the style in vogue at the time it belonged to a living being.

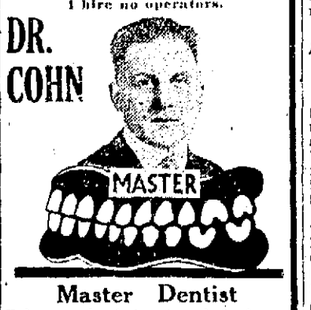

"Women find two ways of modifying the appearance of her hair," declares Dr. Faye. "When the length effect by means of pompadour has ceased its novelty, she tries a breadth effect by muffling her ears. Her coiffure apes the ancient Peruvian warrior.

Davie Goes To Aid Oakland Armory Bill

Mayor John L. Davie departed for Sacramento today to assist toward the ultimate passage of the Oakland armory and exposition appropriation bill, now before the Legislature, as introduced by Senator Frank M. Carr in January. The bill is now in the Senate finance committee.

"I am hopeful that the Legislature will pass the bill," says Davie. "We have the support of civic bodies and commercial organizations from every part of the state."

Filmdom Celebrities Engage In Real Comedy-Drama Skit

MONA LISA, the French actress, who is the central figure in a Movieland comedy-drama that was real, in which a locked apartment, a man, another woman and a police patrol all have prominent parts.

Proverbial "Triangle" and Patrol Load of Officers Enliven Apartment Quarrel in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, March 8. — The movie world in the vicinity of Hollywood is busy discussing the features of a comedy-drama which came into existence at an early hour, when Sidney Cohen, a motion picture man, called the police station and demanded that officers be sent immediately to the apartment of Mrs. Cornelius de Paw, known as "The Countess," to settle an apartment quarrel in which Mrs. de Paw, "Mona Lisa," the French actress, and Cohen himself formed the proverbial triangle. Like all good motion picture plots—only this one just happened instead of being written—there had to be a "villun," a patrol load of police and everything. But to go on with the scenario:

The police wagon rolled merrily along over the boulevards to the apartment house from which had come the telephone call. The officers found Mrs. de Paw in a hysterical condition. Cohen, it developed, had accused her of attempting to break through the doors of the apartment occupied by Mona Lisa, and otherwise creating somewhat of a disturbance.

Cohen, it was said, happened to be in the apartment at the time visiting Mona Lisa, and it was nothing other than this fact, it was made plain by Mrs. de Paw, that had caused her to launch a frontal attack on Mona Lisa's apartment door, which, of course, was locked.

The police endeavored to quiet Mrs. de Paw and slip quietly away. But Mrs. de Paw refused to be quieted. She became more hysterical and insisted that the police become her allies in attacking the staunchly-built apartment door. Instead, the police took "The Countess" to the emergency hospital for treatment, where, revived, she finished her story.

She said she owned the building in which Mona Lisa resides, and insisted that the latter and Cohen be brought to the police station and charged with disorderly conduct. Believing that, after all, it might be best to smash down Mona Lisa's door, the police hurried back. They found a very quiet supper party under way when they arrived, so no one was arrested.

LONG ENGAGEMENT

Ordinarily the story would end here, with Cohen and Mona Lisa victorious. But no. Mrs. de Paw went further. She told the police, in the presence of Cohen and Mona Lisa, that a few night previous Cohen had come to her apartment and accused her of having abducted Miss Lisa. She said that on the previous Saturday night she had seen Cohen calling on Miss Lisa and called the police and asked that he be removed from the building. He was not removed, she says. A short time after that, she said, as she was going from another apartment to her own, someone seized her in the hallway and forced her to drink something which made her dizzy. After that she doesn't know what happened.

And that is the end of the story, so far as statements from the police and Mrs de Paw herself can reveal it. In Movieland the play has already gone into the 'steenth reel and a long engagement is expected.

Don't Let Them Strike, He Warns Burbank Eulogizes World's Farmers

SANTA ROSA, March 8.—On the occasion yesterday of his 72nd birthday, Luther Burbank, world famous plant wizard, credited with more plant creations than any other living horticulturist, today wrote for the International News Service a greeting to the farmers, gardeners and plant growers of the United States. The greeting was written as Burbank came from his gardens where he daily watches some 6000 plant experiments and has growing more than 5000 distinct botanical specimens from all parts of the world.

He was born 72 years ago in Lancaster, Mass. His first notable work was the production of potatoes from the seed of the potato flower, and it was the $150 received from this experiment that enabled him to come to California and establish the beginning of his now extensive experimental farm at Santa Rosa.

Since his start at Santa Rosa new plant creations have come annually as the result of his unending labors and much present-day agricultural prosperity was made possible by his plant development.

His greeting to plant lovers of the world follows:

By LUTHER BURBANK

Hats off to the farmers, gardeners and fruit raisers of the world!

Human life depends upon their efforts.

If they should go on strike for one season, everything would be paralyzed beyond words to describe.

All advancement, and even our civilization, has arisen and now depends upon the improvements which have been made in training plants to work for man.

RICHMOND CITY COUNCIL SETTLES GARBAGE MATTER

Ordinance Passed Providing For Collection and Contract Is Ordered.

RICHMOND, March 8.—The City Council last night disposed of the garbage problem, by which it has been confronted for several months. The first step taken was the adoption of an ordinance providing for the collection and disposal of garbage. The second step was a resolution instructing the mayor and city clerk to execute a contract with J. Gale of San Francisco for the erection of a garbage incinerator here and for the collection and disposal of all garbage in the city for 25 years, from January 1, 1921. Gale is to have a monopoly in the handling of all garbage and refuse, with the exception of swill from restaurants and hotels, which may be sold to other persons under the regulations of the ordinance.

The ordinance and the agreement with Gale provide that garbage shall be collected at the following rates.

Private residences, not less than one collection per week, for 35 cents a month. Not less than two collections per week, for 60 cents a month.

Apartment houses, not less than six collections per week, for 25 cents per month per apartment.

All other collections are to be made in accordance with agreement between Gale and the owner of the garbage, provided that in case an agreement cannot be reached, the question will be submitted to the City Council, and the parties shall abide by the decision of the council.

The contract provides that work on the incinerator shall be started within thirty days, and that the incinerator shall be completed and ready for operation within 90 days from the time work is started. It is further provided that the city shall have the option of purchasing the garbage incinerator at any time and provision is made for a board of three appraisers to fix a fair valuation upon the property.

REFORM SCHOOL "BAD MAN" SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Because 16-year-old Santa Ortiz, found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, had once tried to kill the superintendent of Preston by slugging him with an iron bar concealed in a stocking, Judge L. S. Church today sent the youth to San Quentin for from 1 to 15 years.

"I wish there was some intermediate institution to which I could send this youth," said Judge Church. "I dislike to send him to San Quentin among the hardened criminals, but he has proven incorrigible and he must go. His record makes it impossible for me to send him to a reform school."

Young Ortiz was arrested last March after a gun battle with Special Officer Floyd and Patrolman Davis, in which the stolen automobile which he was driving overturned. Ortiz shot and wounded both officers before he was taken at Ninth and Oak streets.

Barrymore Discord Admitted

MRS. RUSSELL C. COLT (Ethel Barrymore) and her three children, whose custody she secures by terms of her separation, news of which was confirmed by her attorney today.

Celebrated American Actress Permits Announcement of Estrangement

NEW YORK, March 8.—Ethel Barrymore, the celebrated American actress, who has portrayed for many years the emotional sufferings of men and women due to badly adjusted human relationships, today is the star in a domestic drama in real life. Counsel for Miss Barrymore has confirmed reports that the famous stage luminary has separated from her husband, Russell G. Colt.

In making formal announcement concerning the family break, William Nelson Cromwell of the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, declared that the Colts are now living apart in conformance with the terms of a separation agreement made by them.

The agreement provides that Miss Barrymore shall have complete custody of the three children, but the agreement also states that the father will have the privilege of visiting them. The father's visits will be subject to the mother's convenience and the health and studies of the children.

It was further stated that Miss Barrymore has practically recovered from recent operations on her fingers and tonsils. She was removed from her room in a local hospital to a hotel yesterday.

Miss Barrymore's stage success has been continuous since her debut in 1896, when she made her first professional appearance in the company of her uncle, John Drew. Later she was associated with Henry Irving for a number of years.

Among the plays in which she has appeared are "A Doll's House," "Alice Sit-by-the-Fire" and "Her Sister." She first starred in "Captain Jinks" in 1900. She was born in Philadelphia August 15, 1879.

RICHMOND ASKS CHANGE IN PLAN FOR ITS HARBOR

War Department To Be Asked To Make Depth 30 Instead of 24 Feet.

RICHMOND, March 8.—A resolution asking the War Department to change the development plans of Richmond harbor to provide for a channel with a mean depth of thirty feet instead of twenty-four feet was adopted by the city council last night upon recommendation of Harbor Manager J. H. Misner. Misner filed a communication with the council in which he stated that unless the depth of the harbor here was increased, Richmond could not expect to get her share of the shipping business of San Francisco bay.

Misner pointed out that at present a large percentage of the vessels entering the harbor have a draft of twenty-six to thirty-five feet when loaded, whereas prior to the war and at the time the harbor development plan was adopted by the War Department only 10 per cent of the ships entering the bay had a draft of more than twenty-two feet.

Changes in the location of the channel lines and training wall as now laid down by the department are also urged in the letter, and a request that these changes be made were incorporated in the resolution adopted last night.

Misner urged that the work of deepening the channel be begun at the earliest possible moment, in order that Richmond may participate in the shipping business to the fullest extent her facilities will permit.

National Fish Day

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9 TOMORROW

For the purpose of acquainting people with the different varieties of low priced fish in the markets and encouraging consumption, Wednesday, March 9th, has been declared a national Fish Day.

Did you know that less fish is consumed in the United States per capita than in any other nation? Yet the waters in and around this country produce more and greater varieties of Commercial Fish than any other large nation.

California, especially, has available great varieties of the best fish known to the human palate, yet fish consumption is confined principally to two or three varieties. Why is this?

Because you, Mrs. Housewife, have not tried some of the most delicious and lower priced varieties.

Prices are coming down, especially those now in season such as SOLE, SAND DABS, ROCK COD, CHILIPEPPER, HERRING and CARP.

It isn't always the most expensive foods that are the most nourishing or appetizing.

Easily prepared and tasty. Ask for the different varieties. Don't be content with the same old standbys, but buy some of these fish. They are good either baked, boiled or fried. Your family will be delighted.

S. F. VOTING ON BUYING SPRING VALLEY PLANT

Vigorous Campaign For Purchase of Water Property To Be Decided Today.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—San Francisco turned out in force today to vote on the question of the purchase of the Spring Valley company's properties by the municipality for the sum of $38,000,000 Both the city administration and the corporation have been busy for weeks past advertising and promoting the campaign, anxious that it should go over. Mayor James Rolph Jr., a majority of the board of supervisors and other city officials have been hard at work urging the voters that now is the time to purchase the property. Similarly the Spring Valley Water company has spent considerable money in advertising and circulating propaganda to the same end.

Registrar Zemansky was unable to forecast early today just how heavy the vote would be, but it was generally believed that at least 75,000 would appear at the polls. Some of those most anxious for the measure to pass believe that 100,000 of San Francisco's citizens will register their opinion on the deal. A two-thirds majority is necessary for the measure to pass

The fact that San Francisco is spending millions in the development of the Hetch-Hetchy water project and that the Spring Valley distributing system would be utilized in getting this mountain water to the homes of consumers, has been the chief argument advanced in its favor.

Several times previously the people have voted against the purchase at more reasonable prices than that now asked, but the sum of $33,000,000 was fixed upon as a fair charge by the State Railroad Commission. It includes the distributing system, reservoirs, watersheds, land and property in San Francisco, Alameda, San Mateo and other counties of the state.

A telephone campaign during which nearly every citizen of the city was called up and urged to vote for the purchase was the final gun in the battle waged by the city officials last night and early today.

MOVIE MEN AID HOOVER'S DRIVE

A total of $4600, collected in pennies, nickels and dimes, for the greater part, is the gift of the children of the Eastbay region to the children of starving Central Europe. This is the announcement of the motion picture men's committee of the Hoover Drive, following final count of the sums raised in the picture houses of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda by their recent benefit children's matinees.

These matinees were given in every neighborhood theater and in the big downtown theaters, school children being given a half-holiday for the neighborhood houses, while the downtown houses held their shows on a Saturday morning. Each child was given an envelope into which any sum might be placed, thus serving as an admission ticket.

The picture houses bore all the expense, the envelopes being turned over intact to the Hoover Drive committee, headed by Mortimer Fleishhacker of San Francisco.

Following the long task of counting the thousands of envelopes full of small change, the final tally has just been announced. According to the committee, the figure ranks high among other cities of Oakland's size where similar motion picture benefits were conducted. The move was directed by the Amusements Industries Association, which responded to a personal appeal of now Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

MANY MOURN AT NEWS OF DEATH OF PHIL HEROLD

Veteran San Jose Merchant Passes Away in Los Angeles At Age of 85.

SAN JOSE, March 8.—Word was received here yesterday of the death in Los Angeles of Phil Herold, pioneer businessman of San Jose and San Francisco and founder of the Herold Shoe store and wholesale leather business, now conducted here by his sons under the name of the Phil Herold Shoe company. At the time of his death he was visiting his only daughter, Miss Ada E. Herold. His health had been failing for the past year and a week ago last Wednesday he suffered a slight stroke of paralysis.

Messages expressing sympathy have been received by the family from many prominent men including some of the big shoe manufacturers of the United States.

Phil Herold was born in Carrollton, O., August 21, 1836, and crossed the plains to California before the era of the transcontinental railroads. He located in Grass Valley during the early mining days. He first went into business on Battery street, San Francisco, where he opened a leather and shoe supplies business. During this time he traveled extensively in America and abroad and in 1867 visited San Jose, with the idea of investigating business conditions. In 1869 he returned and established a shoe business, which today, after the lapse of more than half a century, is one of the best known and most flourishing shoe businesses in the state, with a reputation extending throughout this part of California.

He retired from business shortly after 1906.

Wife Says Husband Said She Lacked 'Pep'

"Well, have you been to see a lawyer today?"

This was the first thing her husband, Louis Rosenthal, wholesale iron dealer, was accustomed to say to her daily, according to the divorce complaint of Mrs. Bernice Rosenthal, filed today by her attorneys, Donahue & Hynes.

Mrs Rosenthal says her husband constantly told her she had not "pep" enough to get a divorce and that the only way he could get rid of her would be to throw her out of the house.

Rosenthal is said to be worth about $20,000 and to have an income of $250 a month. Mrs. Rosenthal asks for $125 a month. The family home is at 1124 Raleigh way, Piedmont.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Test Showing Man Superior Held Unfair

BERKELEY March 8.—Man's superiority over woman, as evidenced in the Thorndyke tests recently given to 1500 University of California students has been partially explained away by Professor Warren Brown Professor Brown says that the women were placed at an unfair advantage by the questions, for the tests were prepared for men's universities, such as Harvard, and are on subjects with which men are peculiarly familiar. A large number of the queries concern technical and mechanical problems, he says.

More than 60 per cent of the questions were more favorable in subject matter to the men than to the women, and Professor Brown declares that this fact accounts for the departure from the ordinary circumstance of the women students receiving higher marks than the men.

Other members of the faculty of the psychology department declare that the temperament of the students has a great deal to do with the results, and that the men are less likely to become nervous and excited under the stress of the examination.

CRANE LECTURES ON IDEAL HOMES

To the women who discovers her "type" the secret of the French fashion shops is revealed, the auditors were told today in a lecture on "The Art of Dress" in the Ross Crane home betterment lecture course at the Oakland Auditorium.

A dress expert from the Wisconsin normal schools, Miss Evelyn Hanson, was the speaker, telling how women should recognize their types, and select colors and lines accordingly.

The Crane lectures, scheduled by the Art Institute of Chicago, seek to engender a greater interest in the home life to cause the creation of prettier homes and to make the people of the seventy-five cities where the lectures have been held, happier

Using a ton of equipment, including portable room, collapsible fireplaces, windows and other so-called built-in features, and furniture, pictures, draperies and rugs, Crane in a few minutes presents his ideal room picture.

He insists that by employing a few general principles every one may make his home attractive He shows that many of the rooms are not pleasing, simply because they are overcrowded. Throughout his lectures Crane devotes a large degree of attention to the humble flat or cottage. Anyone can learn the few simple principles required, he says.

A special attraction of tomorrow's program will be the vocal numbers by Mrs Eva Gruninger Atkinson.

The home betterment lectures are being held at the Oakland Auditorium every afternoon at 3 and every evening at 8 o'clock. The program, arranged under the direction of the Breuner Company and various civic organizations, is offered to the public free of charge.

Tonight Crane will give his third lecture on interior decoration. Tomorrow on interior decoration, again emphasizing the relationship of the proverbial Aunt Matilda to the crowded room.

In the evening he will speak on home gardening.

Gen. Booth Talks Of Marriages of Lepers

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Charging his audience to promote knowledge and a better understanding between the United States and Great Britain, General Bramwell Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army of the world, spoke to members of the Commonwealth club yesterday at their luncheon at the Palace hotel here. Of this country General Booth said that he would make but one criticism.

"I would find but one fault with you," he said. "It is, that with your vast wealth and powers of organization at your disposal you have done so little about the child labor problem of the world."

The speaker caused a stir when he suddenly asked his audience if lepers should be allowed to marry. Club members and guests looked amazed when they attempted to read the answer in the general's face.

"I just want to give you a small idea of some of the problems our army is confronted with every day of the year in every part of the world," he continued. "In Java we are taking care of 2000 lepers. Lepers are human, of course, and want to marry. Should we let them, and be charged with propagating leprosy, or should we keep them apart to suffer alone? It is a problem.

"I tried marriage in this leper colony, first extracting from the woman a promise that if a child were born she would surrender it. She promised. The child came and the woman refused to give it up. I reminded her of her promise, but she did not care. I told the attending physician to take the child. 'Take the child' he said, 'and kill the mother. Leave it and the child would be a leper.'"

Obregon Says Strike Due to Inner Fight

WASHINGTON, March 8. — The railroad strike in Mexico is the result of "a quarrel between the unions themselves," President Obregon informed Secretary Vargas of the Pan-American Federation of Labor today, in declining the request of that organization that the Mexican government intervene to stop the strike.

There was no question at issue between the government and strikers, Obregon said, and the government, therefore, could not take sides.

Philippine Senate to Honor Harrison

MANILA, P. I., March 8 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—A plate of gold is to be presented to Francis Burton Harrison, governor general of the Philippine islands, by members of the Philippine Senate, as an appreciation of the cordial relations which have existed between the upper house of the Legislature and the governor general during his eight years' service as chief executive. The gift is to be presented to the governor general just prior to his departure for the United States on March 27.

The plate is to be made of pure Philippine island gold and is to cost approximately $3000. The Filipino flag will be inscribed on the plate, as well as the names of the senators making the gift and a brief testimony of the regard in which the retiring governor general is held by the members.

'One Bad Tooth Starts Another' Tony Says

If You Value Your Teeth and Your Health —Protect Them

"Just as one rotten apple placed in a barrel of apples destroys the others, so does one bad tooth destroy other teeth in your mouth," Dr. R. C. Anderson, prominent local dentist, assured us. Dr. Anderson has well equipped offices above the Owl Drug Store at 1225 Broadway, and offers the most modern dental service and methods known today.

In commending his methods we refer with pleasure to Mr. Tony Walters, a well-known Oakland man and formerly foreman of the brass finishing department at Hall-Scott Motor Co. Mr. Walters suffered severe pains in the head and eyes for three months, due to Pyorrhea. At Dr. Anderson's offices the X-Ray Radeograph showed two abscessed teeth in Mr Walters' mouth. After the extraction of these two teeth the pain left Mr. Walters' head and eyes within twenty-four hours. You can imagine the great relief and satisfaction expressed by this man who had been punished so long by two neglected teeth.

Mr. Walters is only one of many who praise and admire the methods and workmanship of Dr. Anderson's efficient System of Dependable Dentistry.—Advertisement.

Beer With Kick May Be Sold On Doctor's Order

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The prohibition "lid" was removed today on "beer with a kick" for medicinal purposes.

The department of justice ruled that physicians are authorized under the Volstead law to prescribe beer, when in their judgment it will prove beneficial. The beer ruling was drafted before the new administration came into office and bears the signature of A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney-general.

Beer now takes a status equal to that of wine as a curative agent, legally listed by the government, and physicians will be allowed wide latitude in directing its use by patients, when such use will aid recovery in cases of illness or convalescence.

The beer decision is the climax of a warm conflict between some of the government's legal minds. Prohibition Commissioner Kramer opposed such a ruling on the ground it would mean general loosening up of the rigid rules governing the brewers and the sale of their products.

Officials now are considering amendments to existing rules which allow brewers to sell beer of about 4 per cent alcoholic content, in order an ample supply may be available to meet expected demands upon druggists for the liquid.

Did you ever ride in a street car, with someone nearby carrying coffee in a paper bag? Of course, and the appetizing aroma made you hungry for a cup of it too.

When the person carrying that coffee reached home the package was intact, but a large percentage of the flavor, the real life of the article, had disappeared into the atmosphere, with the result, if the coffee had been of the better class, of a sure loss of many cents per pound. Think of it—paying a good price to get a quality coffee and then losing much of what you pay for—flavor—simply because it is not packed right. This is no uncommon occurrence.

THERE are many homes once childless that now are blessed with healthy, happy children, because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored the mother to a healthy, normal physical condition.

The following letters give the experience of two young women and prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Chicago, Ill.—"I was always tired, my head always ached, and my back ached until I could hardly stand the pain. I doctored for years, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, and that I could not have children. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles of it and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have a fine baby boy, thanks to what your medicine did for me in restoring my health. I can highly recommend the Compound to all women who suffer from female ills."—Mrs. Wm. Reiss, 304 Willow St., Chicago, Ill.

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a very nervous condition, was irregular, and could not have any children. I took doctor's medicine without success, and he advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon felt benefitted by its use, became regular, and now we have a fine baby girl after having been married nine years. I am always glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer from such troubles."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 830 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

Sophs Scamper Off With Honors in Annual Inter-Class Meet.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

California's annual inter-class track meet came to a successful end on the California Oval, with the biggest end of the success going to the youthful athletes who sport the golden 23 on their sweaters about the campus The second year men came through with a rush and carried away honors by a sufficent majority to dispel any doubt about their superiority At the start of the afternoon's festivities the Sophs held a lead of 2½ points over their nearest rivals, the Juniors. At the conclusion of all events, save the Medley Relay, the Sophs had a total of 57 to their credit with the Juniors still second with 45½ the Seniors third with 28 and the Freshmen last with 23½. Walt Christie put the Relay, consisting of a mile, 100, 220 and 440 off until a week from today but the final standing cannot be changed except for the positions occupied by the Seniors and Freshmen.

GOOD TIMES MADE.

Although the afternoon was cold throughout the events, excellent times were made. The big thrill of the whole meet came with the finish of the 220-yard dash with Oxy Hendrixson and Art Hutchinson finishing in what appeared to be a dead heat in :22 4. The judges awarded the race to Hutchinson, although Walt Christie, acting as one of the timers, stated afterwards that he caught Hendrixson at the tape, rather than the stocky sprinter The race was a neck and neck affair down the entire stretch with Hendrixson in the lead by a scant margin at the 200-yard mark. Considering the condition of the track and running conditions, the performance of these two sprinters is one of the remarkable features of the California track season to date. While Morris Kirksey, the Cardinal track skipper appears to have both of the dash events stored away in his vest pocket at present writing on account of his past performances it is impossible to foretell what might happen between now and the 16th of April. Neither Walt Christie nor anyone else has made any predictions about beating Kirksey but better men than Kirksey have met with accidents which no one can foresee

BRICK MULLER SECOND.

The bleacherites leaned back with the w. k. gasp of astonishment when the results of the broad jump were made known and Brick Muller was announced to have taken second First honors in the event went to a Freshman by the name of Boren, one of several capable performers among the first year men that Walt has put on display so far this season Boren took the event with 22 feet 8¼ inches, and while Muller had a good excuse, being busy with the discus, which he won, and the javelin, in which he placed fourth, at the same time, still the stellar end will have the same conditions to face against Stanford. Brick was bothered by his takeoff all afternoon and his best jump brought but 22 feet, 2½ inches

SOME NEW TALENT.

New talent aplenty popped up in the two-mile. Some twenty-four starters answered the gun Wilson and Crippin took the lead but by the end of the sixth lap the Varsity stripes were lost behind the first three and at the finish Dorr, '22, breasted the tape clocked at 10 16, despite the fact that the first mile was very slow. This speaks well for California's hope in the distances this season with Pesky Sprott and Mejia in the mile and four half milers stepping the two laps around 3 minutes. In the 880 yesterday Pesky Sprott won handily with Sanders beating Waltz to the tape by a step and Wentworth the same distance behind Waltz.

The results of yesterday's competition:

Two mile run, won by Dorr (22), second, Kitts (23); third, Denton (22); fourth, Fisk (24). Time, 10:10

880-Yard Run—Won by Sprott (21), second, Sanders (22); third, Waltz (21); fourth, Wentworth (22). Time, 2:01.

Broad Jump—Won by Boren (24), second, Muller (23); third, Burgess (23) and Dalton (24) tied. Distance, 22 feet, 8 inches.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Hutchinson (22); second, Hendrixson (22), third, Arkley (23); fourth, Sheppard (24). Time, :22:4.

Discus Throw—Won by Muller (23); second, Berkey (23); third, Boden (24); fourth, Nisbit (22). Distance, 121 feet.

220-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Henry (23); second, Drew (21); third, Porter (21); fourth, Galbreath (22). Time, :27.

Javelin Throw—Win by Harris (24); second, Peterson (23), and Cloak (23), tied; fourth, Muller (23). Distance, 167 feet ¼ inch.

Stanford, Olympic Footballers To Meet

Followers of intercollegiate and club track athletics will have a chance to get a line on the strength of the Olympic club team of San Francisco and that of Stanford University when they hook up at Stanford for their first meet of the season on March 12 "Dink" Templeton, he of the educated football toe and broad and high jumper, has had charge of the coaching and there is a lot of curiosity to see what kind of a job he has turned out as an instructor instead of a participant.

COULDN'T BEAT LIVERMORE.

HONOLULU, March 8.—The Los Angeles Men's club basketball team defeated the five of the Schofield Officers here last night by the score of 25 to 20.

Judge Landis Hands Down Two Decisions

CHICAGO, March 8.—Judge Landis, baseball arbitrator, in a decision yesterday adverse to the Southern league, Little Rock club and upholding the Washington Americans, established two principles upon which future player exchange contracts will be adjudicated

They are When a club purchases a player and the player fails to satisfy the purchaser because of illness incident to the player's inability to acclimate himself, the purchaser must house the ill player, unless the contract provides the contrary

Rules prescribing that purchase agreement be on standard forms and filed within a certain period are intended only for protection of innocent third parties and cannot be availed by a party to the contract to evade its obligations thereunder.

The decision requires that the Little Rock team re-establish in its lineup Leon Carlson and Jack Calvo, pitcher and outfielder respectively, and that it, in accordance with its agreement with the Washington team send its outfielder, Miller, and catcher, Erottem, to Washington for the coming season

NEW YORK, March 8.—Montreal's chances for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight probably will be decided today.

Tex Rickard and C F Graham, representing Canadian interests, are to confer again today when the promoter will listen to the last word of the Canadians

It is understood, however, that the Canadian gave Rickard absolute assurance that the contest could be held without interference in Montreal and asked him what guarantee he wanted to stage the bout across the border

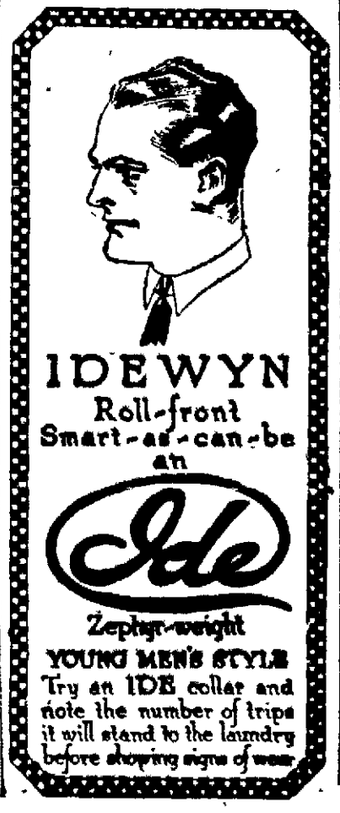

Rickard intimated today that he was favorably impressed with the offer made by Graham, but that he was not anxious to pass up several American cities being considered unless it is absolutely necessary.

GOSSIP of GOLFERS

By W. D. McNICOLL

During the progress of the Northern Championship over Lakeside on Saturday when the fog and rain were at their worst, many disasters occurred to the players engaged Losing balls was quite a serious matter in a medal competition and probably had much influence in deciding the final position of the players. At the fifteenth tee a visiting professional getting rather vague information regarding the direction in which he should play drove a ball off in the direction of the ocean, which was almost at right angles to the line from the hole, but finally holed out in 9. Another player claimed to have lost his caddy twice in the Scotch mist that enveloped the ocean holes

Mud adhering to the ball caused many missed putts and players who were fortunate enough to stymie or interfere with the other players' line of putt had an opportunity to clean the ball while the opponent away from the hole had to play with mud adhering to it. This certainly was never intended when the rule 13, section 3 and 4, was framed for stroke competition.

BOWLING

The first half of the fifteen men team bowling match was played at the Maryland Alleys Sunday afternoon and resulted in a victory for the visitors by 98 pins Ora Forman was the shining star of the day rolling 224, 225 and 244 for a total of 693 Following the above match a five-men team game was played and the local boys won out by rolling 2784 to 2740 for the visitors The last half of the series will be played at San Jose next Sunday afternoon

THE HOMING LOFT

From present indications pigeon racing is on the road to success as one of the leading sports on the Pacific coast, especially in the bay district, as each year sees more enthusiastics of the sport, and the public has shown a marked interest in supporting the game.

The Pacific Homing Pigeon club, of Oakland, at a recent meeting, elected the following officers to serve for the year 1921: President, A. P. Smiley; vice-president, P. W. LeFort; secretary, E. M. Van Antwerp, treasurer, George T Morris; executive committee, J. T. McCray and George Richardson. This organization has forty-five members, with lofts aggregating a total of over 2000 racing pigeons, and with competition in the coming races with the San Francisco Homing Pigeon club, some keen rivalry is expected.

The racing schedule, which starts with the Cliff Durant handicap at 100 miles and finishes with the Oakland TRIBUNE derby at 700 miles, will be announced next week, and the local fanciers are already giving their aerial speedsters some light training in anticipation for the coming events.

Importation of racing pigeons to this section has been going on throughout the winter months and some valuable stock has arrived from the leading lofts of England and Belgium.

One fancier who recently returned from a tour of England, brought with him several hundred dollars worth of racing stock, one particular hen was purchased for two hundred dollars, while a pair that are en route were purchased for twice that amount.

It is safe to say that some of the finest racing pigeons ever brought to the United States are now enjoying California sunshine in the lofts of the local fanciers

Members of the local organization, as well as fanciers all over the country, are keenly interested in the crosses of the wild Rock pigeon with Flying Homer, created by H. R Noack of this city. If the speed of the Rock pigeon can be successfully combined with the homing instinct of the Homer, it will probably revolutionize the breeding of speedsters of the air.

Besides being a keen pigeon racing enthusiast, Mr. Noack has probably the finest collection of wild doves and pigeons in the world. Over one hundred different varieties comprise his collection, some of the species are almost extinct, while others in his loft are the only ones in this country. One particular breed lays but one egg a year, and several weeks are consumed in the hatching of the young.

Belgian Cue Expert Not in Hoppe's Class

Followers of billiards are agreed that Eduard Horsmans, the Belgian cue expert, is a great player—a very great player, but his showing against Jake Schaefer is not such that the fans of the green baize cloth think he will be able to wrest the laurels from the brow of such a super-player as Willie Hoppe. No player, either of the past or present, ever has exhibited the magic, and almost uncanny touch of the master American billiard player.

HALTON-DIDIERS TO MEET COLORED TEAM THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Local Champions Will Not Admit Los Angeles Players Have Cinched the Series

By EDDIE MURPHY

With two defeats checked against them in as many games played with the Alexander Colored Giants of Los Angeles, the Halton-Didiers of Alameda, champions of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE Midwinter League, are not willing to admit that the boys from the south have cinched the series. Manual Duarte's boys are not trying to take any credit away from the colored athletes for being as good a semi-pro ball club that has appeared on the local diamonds at any time, but most of them think that they can give the colored boys an even battle any time that they start and have good pitching. As predicted, the first two games tumbled up some wonderful pitching and high-class fielding. With the exception of Riley Mackey, the colored "Babe" Ruth of the Giants, there was very little heavy hitting done.

Next Thursday afternoon, at the Coast league park, the Giants and TRIBUNE league champs are to meet in the third game of their series The colored boys showed in the games Sunday that they are a bit weak on hitting curve balls and such being the case the local champs have a grand chance to annex a victory in the third game, as they are going to use Babe Hollis on the hilltop, and every fan who has followed the work of Babe in the bushes knows that he is the real goods when it comes to dishing up the curves

Baseball Fans Still Talk Of Sunday's Great Game

The second game of Sunday's double bill was the big talk of the baseball fans about towns yesterday Many a fan remarked that he would be gladly willing to pay double the price of Sunday's admission to see such a game There was talk around of the price of admission being raised for Thursday's game, but that is only a rumor, as the admission will be the same—fifty-five cents for any seat in the park There was the usual aftermath, the boys trying to place the blame for the defeat of the Halten-Didiers The defeat was laid onto poor judgment in sending Babe Hollis to bat for Les Furnanz, they also put Harvey Christensen and Ollie Burns on the pan for letting Mackey's slow roller go for a hit, and there were fifty other reasons given But after all there is no kick coming, as baseball, like any other game, has its breaks There were times when the judgment of the colored boys didn't look good, and there would have been the same kind of arguments put up had they lost. A fan who knows what Babe Hollis has done with the baseball bat in the past, will back the Halton-Didier manager and Captain for sending Babe to the plate in that pinch, as Sunday was one of the couple of times that Babe has fanned The big pitcher is usually good for a long fly or a hit. But that was just one time it was missing.

Following that nerve wrecking ball game, Babe stated that he would like to pitch against the colored boys, and he will surely get his chance Thursday afternoon. The colored boys are playing the St Mary's Phoenix today, and if Mackey pitches for them, it will mean that Bill Foote will do the mound honors against Hollis on Thursday. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

Letter of Gratitude from Trade Union Iron Worker

Oakland, Cal.

For about four and one-half years I suffered from Dysentery I gradually grew worse and finally became so ill that for 3 years I was unable to work. I tried numerous doctors and spent four months at various hospitals, without gaining relief. At least five different doctors wanted to cut me open to find out what was the matter, but I knew I was physically unable to stand it. I was in despair. My friend asked me to try FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, widely known as the most reliable and successful on the Pacific coast. After four weeks of his herb treatment I am in splendid physical conditionand am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude I am a trade union iron worker and am back at work again If any person desires further details I will furnish them.

Holding a Husband

by Adele Garrison

WHY MADGE FELT SHE MUST SEE LILLIAN AT ONCE.

The words were a reminder of the thing which sets Dicky apart from most husbands, save those who are fellow-artists, musicians or actors, and makes unusually difficult the wifely task of managing or holding him—the fact that countless silly women, of all degrees of pulchritude and purse, besiege him by letter and personal interview for the chance to be a part of the "girl" illustrations which are fast bringing him to the top of his profession.

DICKY REMINISCES.

My common sense tells me to share Rory O'More's philosophy that "there is safety in numbers." It reminds me that Dicky is far less apt to fall a victim to the charms of some pretty girl than would a man who rarely saw one, but when did a young woman ever have common sense where the affections of her husband are concerned? She may pretend to have, may conceal her jealousy so admirably that no one ever guesses it, but it is deep in her being, a very part of her ready to spring into flame at the striking of a match. It takes the wisdom and cooling blood of approaching age to banish jealousy and with Harriet Braithwaite fresh in my memory I am not even sure of that negative.

"For any thing about models," Dicky stretched himself in a lounging chair and took out a cigar—he knows that I love to have him smoke when he's talking to me, and he had talked himself into a good humor—"there isn't one girl in a thousand, better say a million, who has all the qualifications for a perfect model. The only absolutely perfect one I ever knew—begging your pardon, my dear, for bringing up an unpleasant subject—was the Draper Gad! that girl had everything down to the last bone of her little finger, and vitality! She could keep a pose longer than anybody I ever saw.

"I've got a book on now that I'm tempted to turn back, simply because I can't find anybody to fit the text. If dear Gracie weren't deep in a dungeon cell I believe I'd send for her, even if I had to throw a cordon of police around the studio to keep her from starting a revolution if she happened to think of it."

If Bess Dean could only have known the "sweet revenge" my ruse to prevent her posing for Dicky had brought upon my head I am very sure she would have "crinkled up her eyes," in Katie's parlance, more than ever, and enjoyed a hearty laugh at my discomfiture.

I felt decidedly like the scriptural person who had "digged a pit" for another and promptly fallen himself therein. I had played upon Dicky's obstinacy, which I so well know until he had smilingly refused Miss Dean's wish to pose for a magazine cover. And then, while still secretly elated over my triumph he had punctured my complacence with the revelation that he needed Grace Draper sorely for some illustrations, and that if she were out of prison he would employ her again.

Better a thousand Bess Deans in Dicky's studio, I thought, with a whimsy born of my panic, than the one woman who had so injured me, who still held for me, I well knew, a malignant hatred. That Dicky was ignorant of the virulence of her feeling toward me I fully realized.

SWIFT THOUGHT REQUIRED.

I had never told him of that first attempt of hers to drag me down into the sea when we were swimming together, for I felt bound by the pledge Lillian and I had given her at that time. And I knew also that Dicky's easy-going irresponsible nature did not look upon the girl's other evil deeds with the same stern judgment that Lillian and I gave her. A man can forgive much to a woman whose deeds are rooted in a mad passion for himself, and it was that—to do her justice—which had led Grace Draper in the beginning into the horrible course she had pursued.

That the latent possibilities for evil in the girl were unusual, however, Lillian and I had also known with an insight which Dicky lacked utterly. I surmised that he considered her very largely a victim of circumstances, and feared that he would actually carry out his fantastic suggestion and employ her again as a model if something did not intervene.

Dicky had forgiven Harry Underwood and had admitted him to intimate friendship again after that dastardly attempt to wreck his airplane, which Grace Draper had instigated. I knew that owing to the loyalty of her associates she had been saved from proof of complicity in that crime, and I feared that if she ever saw Dicky she would have no difficulty in persuading him of her innocence. He would be no less lenient, I knew, to the girl who had loved him so madly than to the man who had atoned for his treachery by wounds and the risk of death.

My brain worked swiftly in that moment of panic. Dicky was as yet ignorant of the fact that Grace Draper was actually at liberty instead of in prison. I must let no muscle of my face, no tremor of speech betray my knowledge. And I must get to Lillian as soon as I possibly could. She was the only person who could help me in this dilemma.

AN IMPERATIVE SUMMONS.

I girded my brain for action as I heard Dicky's next words.

"Strikes me you aren't quite as enthusiastic over the Draper as you were a minute or two over Miss Dean," he gibed, and I wondered at the volatile nature of this husband of mine, who could forget so easily the reasons I had for fearing and hating Grace Draper. "But you needn't lose any sleep over it. The poor devil is planted for some years to come. By the time she gets out of that prison she'll only be fit to serve as a model for a knitting woman of the French revolution. It's a shame, too, that beauty such as she had should have to fade in prison. The artists and art editors ought to start a parade or something to free her. I'd carry a banner myself. But I suppose you'd—"

This Blouse Cost Only $3500

This blouse, probably the most expensive in the world, is made of real rose point lace, for this rare lace is usually not used for anything but bridal veils, or to trim stately gowns.

The price of the lace is not the only remarkable feature, for the lace is really one of the most exquisite pieces of rose point. It was made by "Town Blouse."

This valuable piece of lace was rescued from Brussels at the time of the German invasion, and subsequently found its way to the American market. The desire to create something unusual prompted the making of this blouse.

The delicacy of the lace is intensified in the blouse by a lining of silver tissue, which throws the rose motifs into bold relief. The neck is cut into a modest V, which is a trifle to the side and is outlined with a narrow pearl edging, and there is a small dangling ornament catching the lace in a slight drapery at the waistline. The short sleeves are formed by the lace, the edges coming together at the tip of the shoulder and falling in a soft line.—Photo Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

"MINE"

There's no lilac bush that's richer than the one beside my door,
And the patch of sky above it is the patch I hunger for;
Oh, I've seen some gorgeous blossoms and I've caught their fragrance fine,
But of all the lilac's growing, there is only one that's mine.

There's an elm tree that I'm fond of and it isn't much to see,
But the humblest of its branches seems to mean a lot to me;
It's the one tree that I long for, when I'm called upon to roam,
Though the world is rich with elm trees, there is only one at home.

The world is filled with children, but of all its merry crew
I hunger for the laughter of a certain little two;
It's for them that I am living, it's for them I often pine,
For there are no others better that can take the place of mine.

Letters of Tessie & Joe.

DEAR TESSIE:

Even overlooking the fact that he makes a bum out of the contents of the ice box every time he comes, I don't think that Irish cop ought to be encouraged to visit your Finnish maid. To come right down to the point, if he keeps on calling I wish you would make a personal inspection every half hour or so while he's in the house to make sure that my private stock is safe.

That reminds me, I had a beautiful dream last night. I dreamed that Congress passed another amendment to the constitution canceling the eighteenth. But I woke up without even the satisfaction of having a headache.

And another thing. If Hilma sings Finnish songs to the baby its up to you to counterbalance the effect by coming back at him with a song in English. Of course I realize your singing voice never was a thing of beauty and gets less and less that way with each passing year. In other words, if the kid has to have something wrecked, I'd prefer it to be his sense of harmony rather than his patriotism.

I dropped into the zoo on Sunday and as I watched the monkeys flitting from flea to flea I made up my mind that no matter how the baby looks when he crawls he's not any more than 50 per cent descended from monkeys. That lets my side of the family out. Further than that I can't say because I always was a great believer in a man not butting in on his wife's family affairs.

Well, I see Harding has nearly finished appointing his cabinet without my help. It just goes to show, Tessie, that if a man just keeps his head and doesn't interfere too much and trusts his subordinates—you know a president is really the servant of the people—why everything will go on fairly smoothly.

Your loving husband,

JOE.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Dearest "Jerry" (may I call you such?)—I am now going to tell you of a rather said affair of mine.

I am a law student, 24 years of age, am very deeply in love with a beautiful "blonde" named Mildred, who is 17 years of age, and a student nurse in Berkeley. She is very clever, Jerry, and a wonderful piano player, but here is her one fault, regardless of who she likes she very rarely shows it. She does things (or rather says things) on the spur of the moment which hurt me terribly—and as I understand her unusual disposition it is up to me to forgive her for some of her little faults. But here is the trouble—the fellows out to the "House" tell me to make her think I will give her up and she will change, but I know different, for she would probably say it was perfectly all right and she didn't care, when I know she does. She is so different from other girls.

I cannot ask her to marry me yet, as I am not through college. But, Jerry, you alone can help me think of a way to keep her until then. I am going to depend on you, for I think you a "good sport."

By the way, Jerry, pardon my penmanship, as I am very out of sorts now and will do better in my next letter telling you how it came out.

Please pardon everything wrong. HAL S., '22.

P. S.—I am going home to visit shortly and think I will leave her under your wing.

You may call me "dearest" whenever you wish. It listens finely, son. I do wish I could think of a way to "keep her," but I'm afraid she'd have to do her own keeping. If she really loves you she'll "keep" all right. And if she doesn't you don't want her. I wouldn't be quite too sure that she's different from all other girls. I think she runs mighty true to type—and that's she's a blessed young scallywag. As for tucking her under my wing—I hereby serve notice that I haven't any wings and never expect to have any! And how do you know at any rate that I'm not another "beautiful blonde" with a tendency to giggle at lovelorn youths? So I mightn't be at all the person for her to play with. Oh, boy, boy, it's a tragic world, isn't it?

Chickens in the City

If you don't believe in anything being possible, read this letter:

Dear Geraldine—Here is a new variety of problem for you to consider with that rare good judgment of yours. I'll be glad of your advice.

Some months ago, before my husband had to leave on a foreign business trip he brought his wife and kiddies to this side of the bay, where we were installed in our pretty little house, which is supposed to be located in a desirable and restricted neighborhood.

But alas for me. I find said neighborhood is dotted with people who go in for city farming with numerous noisy roosters who make the hours from 3 o'clock on hideous with their diversely raucous of piercing crows. I have always been a light sleeper and I cannot escape the pestiferous messages which these fowls seem bent on sending to the other planets.

I want to live in peace and harmony with my neighbors and don't want to be fussy or unreasonable, but this continued loss of sleep is leaving me fagged and extremely nervous.

Have I no recourse from this annoyance. It would seem to me that as a householder, I should be entitled to the enjoyment of peace and tranquility on my own domain. I often wonder whether everyone else in this vicinity enjoys a log-like slumber, or whether there are others who suffer as I do. I spoke as diplomatically as possible to the woman whose poultry is closest to our yard, and she simply replied in a rather disagreeable manner that the roosters did not bother them and that all the law required of them was to keep the chickens 25 feet from other houses. I couldn't believe her statement, though naturally I did not express my doubts to her.

If people want chickens for the sake of eggs, roosters are unnecessary. If they want to go into the chicken raising business, it would seem to me that they should go to some outlying district rather than to a so-called residence district.

I had supposed Oakland was a city—not a country village—but we are 10 minutes from Fourteenth and Broadway and I am from MISSOURI.

When I think of that rooster and the nice meal he would make I'm almost tempted to come over and help you capture him and then COOK him. It would serve him right.

However, that isn't helping you very much and the only thing I know for you to do is to take the matter up with the City Council either by letter or in person. I think that they will remedy the trouble.

Or, if you yearn for retaliation, why not keep a guinea hen. Did you ever hear a guinea hen talking to herself? Believe me, Missouri, she would make your neighbor's roosters sound like a baby's sigh. "The female of the species is EVER deadlier than the male."

An Indignant Supporter

Dearest Jerry—I'm so indignant that I just can't restrain myself any longer, and so, at your invitation to "come one, come all," I'm going to seek our "shoulder." And do you know, it's all over that nasty narrow-minded person, whose letter you printed last night, who dared to criticize you in the manner in which he did—for being a woman myself, I would be ashamed to even assume the possibility of it being a "She."

Of course, our is a glorious free country, where we are all privileged to our own opinions, but, say, Jerry, dear, will you tell me why these rusty old "mossbacks" won't come out and "fight in the open" instead of hiding behind such an indefinite title as "A Subscriber." Why it's an awful "slam" on the rest of us as SUBSCRIBERS. As you say, he doesn't have to read your column. And didn't it make you laugh? To address himself to the "Editor of The TRIBUNE!" Say, Jerry, don't that sound like "tellin' yer or yer pa" style? You bet he didn't dare sign his name. Your advocates would have made short work of his kind. He'd have been properly "cremated."

Notwithstanding the fact that he finds your advice "DISGUSTING," between you and me, Jerry, I wouldn't trust that fellow to meet one of my three daughters on a lonely street after dark. His kind will bear watching, yes, and closely, too. Do you know, and I wish he could know, how many notches his little "knock" boosted YOU up in "us mothers'" estimation. The incident is the discussion of the hour—not over back fences, because that isn't being done these days in our locality, but let me tell you the phones are mighty busy and surely your right ear must be keeping up an incessant ring. All the young people are so worried for fear your column will be discontinued, but that isn't possible because the work you've started is too great to be abandoned now.

Whoever you are we all love you and though I don't suppose you'll print this letter for fear that some misguided creature might think you were "tooting your horn," I'd like to tell that "Subscriber" that 99 per cent of the readers of The Oakland TRIBUNE are OFF WITH HIM FOR LIFE. (One of)

YOUR ARDENT SUPPORTERS.

I've read that letter about a score of times and every time I do it I go out and treat myself to a bottle of grape juice. I'm beginning to look like a reg'lar vineyard. Do I agree with every word of it? Do I!!! There's nothin', positively NOTHIN'! Gang, that I agree with as much as having folks admire me. Isn't it the same with you? Oh you dear, darling, precious adorable Ardent Supporters, I love you so hard that the type on my typewriter is all wobbly with emotion. He WAS a kindufs pickle, now wasn't he? Imagine not liking Jerry! Why, I like the old girl more every day I live with her, and believe me, she's gotten me into an awful lot of scraps! "Afraid to toot my own horn," girl, I'm willing to start a whole jazz orchestra about myself any time love like that comes my way!

Do you remember Kathleen, who wrote a nice letter to Jerry, asking that Sweet Sixteen be "roasted" for her powdered nose and her mad love affairs? I do, and so does Enod, who is sixteen, and who is good and mad at Kathleen. Enod shall have her say, no matter what happens.

Listen, World!

I'm sick o' hearing woman referred to as "The Great Mystery" or "The Sphinx." It's all bunk. She is neither mystery, nor enigma, but just plain Human Being—not a bit more complicated, sensitive, baffling, or marvellous than man.

Moreover, nine-tenths of the gallantries handed out to her as an Enigma are hypocrisy, poker bluff. It's time some one "called," and I'm here to do it.

It all began because Man wanted to keep Woman from interfering with his little schemes. So he told her she was upon a pedestal and she mustn't shinny down and mingle with horrid, common clay. As the pedestal was usually in a snug corner by the fire, with plenty of gilt trimmings, the ladies fell for it hard.

It worked for a while, but at last, like most lies, it bit the hand that fed it. When the men finally wanted a Reg'lar Pal to share the load, they found that most of the ladies were so fed up on this "you are different" stuff that they actually believed it. So they wish they hadn't now. They want women they won't have to propitiate and analyze and flatter—and where are they going to get 'em?

I tell you, this world won't be much of a home place till men and women tell the truth to each other and start being real rude.

About Sweet Sixteen

Dearest Jerry—After reading Kathleen's piece about Sweet Sixteen I just had to write you a letter. Jerry, do you think its square for everyone to advise giving Sweet Sixteeners such hard straight facts? Isn't it bad enough to be too young or too old for everything you enjoy without having "Kathleen" beg you to give us all a lot of hard facts. I bet she never even knew how it felt to have some one answer her with a lot of high and mighty talk when all she needed was understanding.

It's all well and good for someone older to talk of the young girl's foolishness, but I'd hate to tell the older ones how the younger ones think of them. And anyway, the first affections are harder to understand, and, Jerry, dear, you know it isn't easy to understand why you do want to do things when you are sixteen. Couldn't you tell Kathleen and everyone else to let us younger ones alone. There are enough school teachers to nag without outside assistance. Please love us even if we are only sixteen. ENOD.

I love you, sixteen or sixty, but sixteen is very dear to me. The wonderful spirits and the possibilities of magic futures endear you to me, and I don't want to scold, I want to help you understand yourselves at sixteen. I know that at sixteen you don't know the whys and wherefore of your impulses and how restive you are under restraint. Believe me, I do, and I giggled, too, at your "sweet" remark that you'd HATE to tell us grownups what you think of us. You'd LOVE to LOVE TO, LOVE TO.

I believe in truth, but not in the harsh or unkind telling of it. Life is beautiful and at sixteen children will respond to beauty and love when harsh DON'TS fall on barren ground. I'm for you, Enod, STRONG.

Persuade Your Mother

TEDDIE—I am glad you are back again, but you won't like what I tell you. I think you should arrange to have him come to the house or not see him at all. Persuade your mother to let him call and then let him "square" himself and prove that the things the other boy said are not true. She will probably let him visit again in the old happy manner. I don't think it's love, my dear, but that's no reason why you shouldn't think so and be happy.

TION.—There's safety in numbers, you know, and I don't think you want to settle down, keep house, wash and iron. You're having too good a time and as long as you are just be a good pal with the whole bunch, it's all right.

DIXIE D.'s—Welcome to California and give the young hopefuls half a chance in the school and you will all be acquainted in no time. Of course, they are shy at first, the boys as well as girls, but in the everyday play and study it soon wears off.

V. C.—I'm thinking you haven't a particle of pride or backbone, if you want to know the truth. It's inexcusable to break dates time after time, making no apology. He knows you are there and he can come whenever he wants, and if he doesn't choose to call you won't be mad and he can do it all over again next time. Just tell him he can't come a few times—or else he out when he calls. If he doesn't like it and chooses to stay away for good—well, you don't care for that kind, anyway.

Take Lots of Sleep

PINKIE—You've seen all the arguments about "spoony" boys and girls, so we won't have to discuss it any more. You needn't be mad, but you can let him know you didn't like it.

Lots of sleep is good for circles under the eyes, my dear, as is also fresh air.

Why not let an artist judge your drawing to find out if it is worth your while to follow up?

An Interested Sixteen-Year-Old—Your rules were fine, but there are so many wonderful letters from life being sent to me, that there is no room for reprinting outside "copy."

BOBBY—It's no use, I can't tell you a way to go out more or get more invitations. I think, though, that with the school friends and school dances, you get a whole lot of fun for a fifteen-year-old. Go with the youngsters your own age—you'll grow up fast enough.

SMILING FRIEND—Of course keep smiling, smile until you win him into a good humor. Maybe it is only the men who receive your cheerful grin and that is why he is cross. Women would [illegible] cheer as well as the other sex and friend husband might be happier if he saw you give them freely to all.

An Annoying Suitor

THELMA PAULINE—You can't blame the boy who persists for he probably cares a lot for you but I think if he understood he might have more consideration for your happiness. Why not explain it to him in a friendly way. Don't say dramatically "never let me see your face again." That's funny. But ask him for the sake of the pleasant [illegible] to stay away. I think if he understood he would stop annoying you.

H.—Breaking into the movies isn't an easy job. You would have to go to Los Angeles and try to work in as an extra. It means showing up day after day at the studios, waiting for an opportunity and using up your earnings while waiting. Also many pretty women do not "register" well before the camera.

SARAH AND LILLIAN—"Being only nineteen we realized that they would change their minds, as we would"—that's quoted from your letter and it's the key to the situation. You are changing every day and so are the boys, we know. It isn't lack of hospitality. It's just that you are all seeking new worlds to conquer.

Tell Him the Truth

BLUE GRAY EYES—There is only one thing you can do, write to Seattle right away and tell him the [illegible] too young, be sure, but that now you know.

R. H. E.—Don't meet her at the stage door but write her a nice letter and ask to be friends. Don't rave. Ask for her friendship, tell her who you are, and that you want to meet her. If she wants to meet you she will answer and it will be a better way than hanging around a stage door.

R. M.—An Amateur Photoplaywright. Your poetry is all right, but it's wasted on me for I can't answer moving picture scenario questions. Write to the Moving Picture Editor of The TRIBUNE. He may be able to help you.

Aunt Eppie Hogg, the Fattest Woman in Three Counties---By Fox

Winifred Black's Column

WOMEN GROWING TALLER

"Women are taller than they were fifty years ago and they are a good many pounds heavier."

So says Dr. Tait McKenzie, director of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. McKenzie has been milling over a lot of exact statistics compiled from years and years of other people's experience, and he ought to know.

We all ought to know without being told by any specialist.

Women are not only growing taller and heavier than their mothers and grandmothers, but they have bigger feet and bigger hands and bigger waists than women ever had before, since shoes and gloves and corsets came into fashion.

I don't know a single girl who can wear her mother's shoes—do you? And as for her grandmother's—you just get little Miss Gwendolyn to try to slip on one of her grandmother's wedding slippers and see if she can get even the tip of her toe into it.

Twenty years ago an average woman wore a number 3 or 3½ shoe. Now the average woman wears a number 5 shoe, and no one's in the least astonished to hear a stunning girl confess to wearing a number 6 shoe.

Her grandmother would have gone into a convent before she would have made such an admission.

BIGGER IN EVERY WAY

A number 6 glove was a large size twenty years ago—now many wear a 7 or 7½—and think nothing of it.

Mother's waist measured eighteen or twenty inches. Daughter's measures thirty inches and she doesn't care who knows it.

The average daughter today can pick grandma up and carry her downstairs as if she were a doll.

Is the average man keeping up with the average woman?

Is he taller and broader-shouldered and heavier?

Has he bigger hands and feet and a deeper chest and a thicker throat than his father or his grandfather?

I wonder.

Sometimes they look so little to me, the young fellows who bring their ukeleles around to the house in the spring evening—so little and wispish and sort of frail. Not at all like the great, big, strong men we used to read about in the old-fashioned romances.

Perhaps it's the clothes—the tight coats and skimped trousers and queer little hats and belted overcoats.

Men's tailors seem to try to make men look like professional dancers with a girlish figure these days.

But, anyhow, the men do not look as big as they looked a generation ago.

And the girls look not only as big, but a lot bigger than their mothers—and, as a matter of fact, they are bigger in every way.

I wonder if it's the tennis and the swimming and the rowing and the golf and the gymnasium.

Where's the girl who can't walk half a mile without getting the backache?

What's happened to the woman who couldn't go out on the lake in a canoe for half an hour without coming home with a sick headache?

What's become of the girl who had to have a room on the first floor at the boarding school because she couldn't go up and down stairs?

They're changing right before our eyes—the boys and girls.

CONSIDER SOME MEN

I saw some pajamas for sale in a men's shop the other day, and they were trimmed with ribbon, and nobody even smiled when I mentioned it.

Men's nails are as well manicured as women's these days—and if you don't believe that men take a facial massage now and then to get rid of wrinkles, ask the barber.

He can tell you a lot about glistening hair and the things he puts on his customers' heads to make them look like movie heroes.

What does it all mean, really?

Something very deep and hard to understand — something connected with evolution, something that we can only sense dimly in a vague sort of way?

Or is it just a passing freak of a passing mood of Nature, that most feminine of all things?

What do you think about it?

Leipsic Fair Opens; Americans Buy Novelties

(By Associated Press)

LEIPSIC, Germany, March 8.—The Leipsic fair opened yesterday with 15,000 exhibitors and 100,000 visitors, more than half of whom were buyers representing twenty-five countries. There were about 100 American buyers. The Americans bought chiefly toys and novelties.

Prices on fabrics, porcelains and many other staple products were quoted so high in dollars, as compared with the prices in marks, that only extremely novel offering tempted the Americans.

Riches in Silver Are Found in Alberta

EDMONTON, Alta, March 8 (United Press)—Silver deposits recently discovered on Keno Hill in Yukon Territory are said to rival the famous gold placers of the Klondyke. One vein of solid galena, 8 feet wide, has been found, according to reports from the Far North. A sample of ore from this vein is said to have run 14 000 ounces to the ton. Another vein, 5 feet wide, ran 5000 ounces to the ton

The gold commissioner of the Yukon has wired to Ottawa a recommendation for the construction of an automobile road from Dawson to the new fields Geologists have expressed the opinion that it will equal the richness of the Cobalt region

Three hundred miners are in winter quarters at Keno Hill Provisions are scarce and prices are reminiscent of the Klondyke stampede A ton of potatoes recently sold for $500

INFORMATION ON U. S. INCOME TAX RETURNS GIVEN

Final Expert Prepares Details in Response to Many Inquiries Received.

In the following will be found, prepared by the ... expert of a large trust company for public information the necessary information on the filing of income tax returns. This information is printed in response to many inquiries, and is intended as a guide for those who have not yet filed in the week remaining to them:

Individuals, partnerships, fiduciaries and corporations are required to make returns on the basis of their annual accounting period, whether a calendar year or a fiscal year other than the calendar year. An accounting period which has been previously established by a taxpayer can be changed only with the approval of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue

Every individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States, is required to file a return if his net income is (a) $1000 or over, if single, or if married and not living with husband or wife, or (b) $2000 or over, if married and living with husband or wife Whether or not an individual is the head of a family, or has dependents, is immaterial in determining his liability to render a return. If an individual is a married person living with husband or wife, no return need be made where their aggregate net income is less than $2000; but where husband and wife have separate incomes, a separate return must be filed by each where their aggregate net income is $2000 or over, unless they join in a single return Non-resident aliens are required to render full and accurate returns of their income received from sources within the United States regardless of the amount thereof unless their tax has been fully paid at the source

AGENT CAN ACT

The return may be made by an agent when by reason of illness, absence or non-residence the person liable for the return is unable to make it.

An individual should use Form 1040 if (a) his net income is $5000, (b) the net income reported in the return exceeds $4000 and the entire family exemption has been claimed in a separate return filed by wife (or husband) (c) the combined net income of husband and wife exceeds $5000. In other cases Form 1040-A should be used.

An individual under 21 years of age or under the statutory age of majority where he lives, is required to render a return if he has a net income of his own of (a) $1000 or over for the taxable year, if single, or (b) $2000 or over, if married, and living with husband or wife. If a minor has not been emancipated by his parent who appropriates or may appropriate his earnings, such earnings are considered income of the parent, who should include the same in his return In the absence of proof to the contrary, a parent will be assumed not to have emancipated his minor child and must include in his return any earnings of the minor

Partnerships and personal service corporations, although not subject to tax as such, are required to render returns on Form 1065, regardless of the amounts of their net income. Such returns must be made for the taxable year of the partnership or personal service corporation, that is, for its annual accounting period, whether fiscal year or calendar year, irrespective of the taxable year of the partners or stockholders

For income tax purposes, income *of estates and trusts may be di*vided into two classes.

First—Income, the tax upon which is imposed upon the estate or trust and paid by the fiduciary, consisting of (a) income received by estates of deceased persons during the period of administration or settlement, except as provided in (e) below; (b) income accumulated in trust for the benefit of unborn or unascertained persons, or persons with contingent interests; (c) income held in trust for future distribution under the terms of the will or trust.

Second—Income, the tax upon which is imposed upon and paid for by the beneficiary, consisting of (d) income which is to be distributed to beneficiaries periodically whether or not at regular intervals; (e) income collected by the guardian of an infant to be held or distributed as the court may direct, (f) income of the estate of any deceased person which during the period of administration or settlement is properly paid or credit*ed to any beneficiary*

ESTATES AND TRUSTS

In the case of estates or trusts falling within subdivisions (a), (b) and (c), the income is taxed to the fiduciary as to any single in*dividual*, and a return should be rendered on Form 1040, or Form 1040-A, depending upon the amount of income to be reported In the case of estates and trusts falling under (d), (e) and (f), the fiduciary is required to make an information return on Form 1041, in which must be included a statement of each beneficiary's distributive share of the net income of the estate or trust whether or not distributed before the close of the taxable year for which the return is made. In all such cases the income is taxable directly to the beneficiaries, who must make returns on Form 1040 or Form 1040-A

Every fiduciary, or at least one of joint fiduciaries, must make a return of income for the individual estate or trust whose income is in his charge, (a) if the net income of any individual beneficiary is $2000 or over if married, and living with husband or wife, or is $1000 or over in other cases, (b) if the net income of the estate or trust is $1000 or over, or (c) if any bene*ficiary is a non resident alien*

FOR CORPORATIONS

Every corporation, not exempt from tax under Section 231 of the law, must make a return on Form 1120, regardless of the amount of its net income. Corporations which are affiliated within the meaning of the statute are required to file consolidated returns A corporation which has received a charter, but has never perfected its organization, and which has transacted no business and had no income from any source, may, upon presentation of the facts to the collector, be relieved from the necessity of making a return so long as it remains in an unorganized condition

Returns must be filed with the collector for the district in which the legal residence or principal place of business of the taxpayer is located on or before March 15, of each year, or the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of a taxable year other than the calendar year.

Speed Up on Your Income Tax, Is Special Appeal

ENTERING the home stretch Eastbay folk poured into the internal revenue office in the Oakland Federal building today to file income tax returns.

Coincidentally the collectors announced that from now until Tuesday night, with the exception of Saturday, the office would be open nightly until 8 o'clock to receive returns.

The public was urged to make haste because there still remain a large proportion of incomes to be reported, and if this week does not show better results, Monday and Tuesday will be hectic.

A particular warning was issued today to those who must file under forms 1099 and 1096 which cover persons paying $1000 or more a year in rent, annual interest or other fixed charges such as salaries. This information must be in Washington, D. C., by March 15, so that tomorrow will be nearly the last day for the filing of such information.

The whole business of filing must be speeded up, according to the collectors, or there are many who will have difficulty at the end. For that reason a special appeal was today issued.

The lists include permission to the Southern California Edison Company to extend the existing system at the headquarters of the San Joaquin and for Luther Hill of Inyo, California, to construct a small plant.

A total of 178 applications under the Water Power Act are noted. No. 178 listed by the commission is:

Project No 96 was readvertised This project involves power development covering the constructed Kerckhoff project and transmission line, in Fresno and Madera counties, California, proposed by the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation of Fresno.

NORTHERN HALF OF STATE GIVEN RAIN BENEFIT

Grain Generally in Favorable Condition and Further Advanced Than Usual.

Northern California, including the whole bay region, has a distinct advantage over southern California, according to the monthly report of Edward A. Beals meteorologist for the weather bureau, summarizing weather and crop conditions in February.

On rainfall distribution he says:

"Rainfall was sufficient for all needs in the northern half of the state, but it was deficient in the southern half, especially in the San Joaquin valley and in the counties south of Tehachapi. In this section rain fell opportunely and for that reason was sufficient for present needs though not enough to wet the soil to sufficient depths to carry the crops through the summer without considerable more rain during March and April. In the northern counties there is ample soil moisture, and in some places poorly drained fields of early grain did not do well on account of there being too much moisture in the ground The last ten days of the month were warm and generally dry and all vegetation made excellent progress Green feed is abundant and stock everywhere are in excellent condition."

HAVE GOOD START

Reporting much barley, wheat and garden truck planting and sowing, the weather expert finds early grain generally in a favorable condition and further advanced than is usual at this time of year. He says:

"Large quantities of such vegetables as cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, peas, spinach, turnips, asparagus, early onions and rhubarb were harvested. Very little potato planting was done, and considerable land was prepared for field beans. Sugar beet planting was carried on during most of the month, and in some localities nearly half the crop has been set out. Rice growers during the last ten days succeeded in salvaging some of the crop that should have been harvested last fall."

ORCHARD WORK

Of the other crops, the report is:

"Orchard and vineyard pruning, spraying and cultivating was done whenever the weather permitted.

"Almonds came into bloom early and the trees are now setting a good crop of nuts. Apricots, cherries, peaches, plums and prunes started blooming during latter part of the month. Some frosts occurred, but as a rule, they did no serious harm. Complaint was made that some of the old prune trees in Sonoma county are not blooming well on account of their feeble condition, brought about by the drought last summer.

Special Rates Made For Coast Tourists

Subsequent to the summer railroad rates west-bound from eastern cities, good only on return trip tickets, announcement of special rates from California for coast tourists and vacationists was made today.

The rates, which will be effective May 13, will apply from California points to western resorts and national parks, but will not cover travel east of the Rockies.

Two classes of tickets will be sold; all for the round trip. One class of tickets will be sold for journeys starting on Friday or Saturday of each week, the time of the ticket extending fifteen days. This rate will be a fare and one-third for the round trip.

The other class rate will be for three months, but terminating not later than October 31. It will be a fifth off the full two-way fare. The rates will go into effect to Tahoe, Yosemite, Crater Lake, Yellowstone, Glacier Park and other places of similar character.

The rate which has been established from the East for round trips to California will be approximately a fare and a third and will stand until October 31, when the full winter rate will be restored.

Chicagoans Coming to Inspect Bay Region

Thirty-five Chicagoans, comprising a transportation commission representing the Chicago city council, are to arrive in San Francisco Monday to begin a survey of transportation arrangements of the bay region. They will vew, in particular, the San Francisco municipal lines, but are expected also to pay attention to the Southern Pacific suburban and San Francisco-Oakland terminal lines.

The commission is making a study of the solution of American metropolitan trolley and rapid transit problems with a vew to applying their observations to the Chicago problem.

Detroit, which has undertaken municipal operation of car lines some time ago made a similar study of the bay region with special reference to the San Francisco municipal lines.

Weather Man Sees Big Fruit and Grain Crops

Generally optimistic and encouraging is the view taken by George H. Willson, government meteorologist, in reviewing the weather conditions and crop outlook in California for February, as reported by the California Development board in its monthly bulletin.

The precipitation did not come up to expectations and February was marked by much warm weather, Willson found, but with the large accumulation of snow in the mountains, the outlook for water this year is excellent.

The bulletin points out the federal report that the plant of deciduous fruit trees in California last year was 125,000 against 150,000 for preceding year, and quotes many growers declaring that more organized and intensive methods of disposing of cannery fruit must be reached if the immense acreage coming into bearing this year and next is to be sold profitably. It is noted that the California Packing company is reducing the prices of its 1920 canned pack.

FRUITS AND NUTS

Taking up the condition of fruits and nuts specifically, the bulletin, says in part:

"Walnuts—Two cars, for New York and one for Texas left Walnut Creek last week. This commences the first carlot shipments from this district, which is rapidly coming into full bearing.

"Almonds—Shelled almond department established by California Almond Growers' Exchange, Sacramento. Trees in Santa Clara, lower Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys heavy with bloom.

"Apricots—England again buying canned cots, in small orders under 1000 cases. Reduction of 25 per cent in ocean freight rates and improved value of pound sterling point toward increasing business.

Berries—First shipments from Imperial on consignment arrive Oakland.

Cherries—First shipments from Sacramento valley expected to start about May 20, two or more weeks earlier than usual. Bumper crop expected. Santa Clara valley cherries showing heavy budding.

FIRST CANTALOUPE

Cantaloupe — First ripe fruit brought into Brawley February 8.

Avocados—Bay side market overstocked. Shipments of Tahiti avocados cause price decline on Southern California product owing to preference of trade for Tahiti fruit on account of size.

Grapes—Including 30,000 vines now being set in Arbuckle district, Colusa county, will have some 100,000 acres grapes. Yolo county planting 500 acres, mostly Thompson Seedless, in addition to the 1132 acres table grapes and 1582 of wine grapes set out in 1920. Glowing five to ten-year contracts for wine grapes talked of, but old producers holding off, doubting possibility of maintaining prices of last year over such long future period.

Peaches—California Peach and Fig Association declare no reduction dried peaches seems necessary to move crop in jobbers' hands to consumer.

Pears—Nearly 35,000 new trees set in Lake county. Also heavy plantings of Bartletts in Nevada county.

Olives—Popularity of California ripe olives evidenced by the prompt presentation of 500 claim cards scattered by airplane on Olive day for Balifornia Development Board. Finders received quart extra large fancy ripe olives.

Prunes—Slightly more activity in jobbing market than last month.

Raisins—Fresno county led in 1920 production all varieties raisins. State production 82,953 tons Muscat, 69,116 Thompson Seedless, 12,062 Sultana, 6523 Malagas Black Feherzagos, according to California Associated Raisin Co.

FIELD CROPS

Field crops are reviewed in the report in part as follows:

Barley grain—Sutter basin planting some 22,000 acres to barley and wheat; large acreage in Livermore district. Market demand for barley light but growers are inclined to hold for better prices. Average local consumption of 325,000 tons has been cut one-third by motorizing the farm in last ten years. Barley acreage seeded to date estimated less than last year. Half California mills operating in January report flour production of 217,209 barrels, against 138,984 in December.

Price of jute standard grain sacks fixed by San Quentin prison at 7½c until April 1 in quantities of 10,000 or less.

Beans—Much planting in Sacramento valley. Bean markets taking on active tone for every variety. Good quality blackeyes and pinks very scarce with prices ruling high.

Hay—Alfalfa hay has declined 60 per cent below same time last year and is lower than production costs, according to Alfalfa Growers' Association.

Honey—Prices decline. Demand weak. Markets for honey and beeswax affected to large extent by cheap imports.

Potatoes—California certified seed potatoes listed $4 per cwt. small lots; $3.75 20-bag lots; $3.45 in carlots f. o. b. shipping point. Seed potato growers estimate 30,000 bags certified seed potatoes on hand but curtailment of planting in the San Joaquin coming season. Sweet potatoes higher and demand strong at 7¾c per lb.; yams in basket 6¾c per lb. During January California shipped 698 carlots of potatoes; from beginning of season to January 29, 1921, 8468 carlots as compared with 7646 previous year.

Sugar beets—Large plantings in Pleasanton district and renewed interest manifested in Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys owing to aggressive campaign from refineries, for contracts on 1921 crop. About 3000 acres contemplated for Sutter basin.

Truck—Last of celery arriving on firm market up to $4 per crate for choice stock.

Antioch ships first asparagus to East. Local markets steady, receipts light. Antioch crop estimated at 80,000 crates or about 125 cars. Estimated cost of cutting in Sacramento delta for canneries this season 1 to 1¾c per lb.

To February 26, 1600 cars of lettuce had moved from the Imperial—about half the crop.

Sebastopol and Eastbay districts shipping rhubarb to steady and high local markets.

Heavy rains will probably reduce spinach pack this year.

Employers Strike With Employees at This Mine

WASHINGTON, March 8.—When employees at the Keeley coal mine, Dugger, Indiana, twenty of them, go on strike, the employers, thirty-seven of them and also working miners, strike, too. The whole job comes to a stop until the executive board of the Miners' Union arbitrates the dispute.

For the Keely mine is a cooperative partnership affair, operating the property under lease. The thirty-seven are the partners and the twenty "day men" are employed by the thirty-seven. And J. J. Bourquin of the bureau of mines, in a report, asserts the Keely mine is one of the few similar properties "being operated successfully on a cooperative basis." A majority of attempts previously had resulted in "utter failure," he said, but the success for the Keely mine plan after eight years is marked and the partners are planning purchase of the property.

ALL PICK WORK

The mine has an output of about 300 tons a day, all by pick work, as no machines are used. It is NOT incorporated and an indebtedness rests upon the partners individually as well as upon the partnership. Only men who mine and load the coal are eligible for partnership, and day workers employed get the regular scale of pay for the strongly unionized district in which the mine lies.

Management is through elected finance and policy committees, but a superintendent is provided for at a salary equal to one-tenth of the sum of the earnings of the ten partnership miners receiving the highest pay for any month. That provision, the investigator found, inclined the boss toward "close supervision and efficiency."

Prorating of earnings among the partners is made on a computation of "man-days of actual work" or the coal produced by each, which the investigator found was "undoubtedly fair to all" and which "was originated to discourage idleness and evidently accomplishes its purpose, for the miners are steady workmen." Under the system, failure to be on the job for any other cause than illness penalizes the absentee in the profit sharing.

WORKERS TAKEN IN

A reserve fund and a purchase fund are being maintained by deducting from each partner's share on pay days, but if a partner quits he gets all these assessments back. New blood is taken into the partnership as needed from men employed at the mine.

Personnel of the partnership group has undergone many changes since the original ten miners undertook the scheme, the report said, but after a hard struggle the property is on a paying basis and earnings of the partners high. A recent payday, semi-monthly, showed one miner with ninety-seven tons produced, receiving $127 after all expenses and assessments had been deducted, while a miner turning out the same amount in nearby company operated properties would have received $104.76 and must pay out of that his own powder and fuse expenses.

RICE MEN SCORE IN FIRST ROUND AGAINST BROKERS

Motion to Dissolve Growers' Association Dismissed in Federal Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—A motion for a preliminary injunction to dissolve the Pacific Rice Growers' Association as an illegal monopoly, and to enjoin certain banks from lending money to the association and a group of millers in support of the alleged combination, was dismissed in the United States District Court here yesterday because only general charges were presented without specific allegations to support them.

Leave was given the plaintiff, G. Amsinok & Co., an exporting and importing firm, to amend the complaint within ten days, which the plaintiff announced would be done.

The complaint charged the association with controlling practically the entire available supply of California rice and endeavoring to maintain fictitious prices in the face of a declining market. The supply was given as about 1,000,000 bags, valued at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

The Amsinok Company declared that the Rice Association refused to sell to brokers buying for account and that there was an attempt to force rice dealers out of existence.

AMERICAN LABOR GOES TO MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—An influx of American labor to Mexico, especially to the oil regions, is causing much concern to government officials who are receiving complaints daily from Mexican workmen's organizations that the presence of the foreigners is working a hardship on native labor.

It is asserted that unemployment in the United States has caused thousands of Mexicans to return to the republic, many of them in destitute circumstances. Arriving here they find large numbers of Americans holding the jobs which, they declare, rightfully belong to them.

Moreover, in the oil fields American labor has practically supplanted native workmen and the charge has been made publicly by labor representatives that the Americans in these regions are fully armed and are on "war basis" for the ostensible purpose of protecting foreign holdings.

PRICES IRREGULAR STOCKS AGAIN ON DOWNWARD TREND

Early Advantage Is Cancelled Soon; United Fruit in New Low Record.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Dealings at the opening of today's stock market session were very light and irregular. Fresh presure was decidedly against some of the rails and shippings; but the general list was only slightly changed.

The market's tone improved within the first half hour, when shorts covered hurriedly in General Asphalt and Mexican Petroleum.

Mexican Petroleum advanced 1½ and General Asphalt 2, more moderate gains being made by Chandler, Studebaker, Crucible and International paper. This advantage was canceled when shippings became more reactionary, United Fruit falling four points to 98½, a new low record. Food shares also were adversely affected, beet sugar losing 1 point and American Sugar 2¼.

Heaviness of Reading first and second preferred were the only striking features among rails.

Exchange on London reflected latest developments in the foreign situation, but call money was again offered at 7 per cent.

Oils and coppers, as well as high grade rails, led the list to minimum prices of the day in the final hour. The closing was irregular. Sale approximated 450,000 shares.

Oil—Mining

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Mining shares made little progress in either direction during today's early session on the San Francisco exchange. Activities were less pronounced and most of the leaders were at a standstill. Ophir strengthened to $1.60 after the opening but quickly reacted to $1.52½. Broken Hills and Con. Virginia held around yesterday's closing level in spite of favorable development reports received while Holly held steady. Divide shares were quiet but a better demand was shown for Goldfields.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 8.—Wheat traders showed a disposition to mark time today pending the issuance of the government report this afternoon on farm reserves. Further rains benefiting crops had only a transient effect as a bearish factor. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1c lower with March $1.67 to $1.67¼ and May $1.58¼ to $1.59, were followed by rallies to above yesterday's finish and then by something of a reaction nullifying most of the gain.

Bearish anticipations concerning the Government report led to considerable weakness in the late dealings. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1⅜c lower, with March $1.66 to $1.66¼ and May $1.59 to $1.59¼.

Corn like wheat, hardened a little after easing off at the start. After opening unchanged at ¼c lower, including May at 70⅝ to 70 7-8c, the market sagged a trifle more and then rose slightly above yesterday's close.

Oats were steady, starting a shade off to 1-8c advance, May 45 5-8 to 45¾ and later keeping at about the same range.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

The close:

Wheat—March, 1.66; May, 1.59.
Corn—July 72 5-8.
Oats—May, 45 3-8; July, 46¼.
Pork—May, 21.90.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 8. — Weak cables from Liverpool caused an easier undertone at the start of the cotton market today, first prices being 7 to 34 points net lower. Wall Street and room traders were leading sellers early, while spot and firm interests bought. About 17 notices were in circulation. Later the market rallied on support from Liverpool and New Orleans sources and at the end of the first fifteen minutes active positions were about 13 points lower. Private cables from Liverpool said that the market there had been unsettled, owing to political developments and American selling. The news from Europe restricted business.

SHIPS, SHIPPING AND THE WORLD OF COMMERCE

40-CENT RATE TO BE ACCEPTED, SAY PACKERS OF FRUIT

Ship Companies Will Accept Rather Than Lose Bulk of Business, Is Belief.

Although admittedly unattractive business, it is believed by some bay shipping men that ship companies operating from the Pacific to the Atlantic seaboard will accept a 40 cents a hundredweight rate on packed dried fruits rather than lose business contracted for in bulk dried fruits.

The Pacific North Atlantic eastbound conference has, however, failed to reach an agreement with the dried fruit packers and the Prune and Apricot Growers' Association, and today the matter again stood submitted to the Shipping Board for settlement.

DIFFERENTIAL SOUGHT.

The growers made contracts with both the Williams Diamond and the Luckenback steamship lines to move large quantities of sacked prunes and apricots to eastern packers' markets at 60 cents a hundred, a half-dollar cut from the old rate of $1.10 which had maintained a 20-cent differential in favor of boxed fruit shipped by California packers. Boxed fruit at the time of the cut went at 90 cents and still calls for that rate, although bulk fruit may be shipped for 30 cents less.

The packers demand, for the protection of their growing west coast industry, a rate to preserve the 20-cent differential. In other words they would ship for 40 cents.

The question at the conferences was wholly over this rate since it is maintained that the 60-cent bulk fruit contracts cannot now be abrogated and the ship lines can better afford to handle boxed fruit at 40 cents than lose the bulk fruit carrying business by raising.

UP TO SHIP BOARD.

It was the action of the conference in endorsing 60 contracts made by the two named ship lines with the growers without advising the packers that caused the explosion and the recriminations which have followed.

The matter was submitted to the Shipping Board some time ago and then held up in the hope that a compromise could be reached. It is now up to the Shipping Board again.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 8.—The United States Photoplay Corporation yesterday was placed in the hands of receivers. The assets of the company were listed as the plant at Grantwood, N. J., and a film three-quarters finished. No statement of liabilities was made. There are 2000 stockholders, who have subscribed for $600,000 worth of stock.

MUNICIPAL BOND MARKET GROWS, SURVEY SHOWS

Nine States Represented in Securities Offered to Investors.

Activity in state and municipal bond offerings is reported for February in a survey made by the Bond Buyer, which is an authority of public issues.

Nine states are found to be represented with $28,943,000 in securities offered. The states are Michigan, Idaho, North Carolina, Oregon, Washington, Massachusetts, Maryland, Delaware and Minnesota. In addition $24,000,000 of the Republic of Chile, 8 per cent external loan bonds, were offered on the American market.

In the municipal market, says the authority, the public absorbed a large volume of newly-issued bonds, especially in the first two weeks.

Says the report in part:

"The most important city loans in February were those made to the following cities: Chicago, $6,000,000, Toledo, O., $1,000,000, Toronto (Canada), $5,037,000; Newark, N. J., $3,250,000, Akron, O., $1,650,000, Jersey City, N. J., $1,600,000. During the latter part of February the bond business was quiet, but prices of state and city issues were well maintained."

The following table shows total sales of bonds by American states and municipalities in February and in the two months ending February 28 for the last ten years.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR COMPANIES SHOW BIG DIVIDENDS

Concerns Reported in Prosperous Condition. Notwithstanding Handicaps.

HONOLULU, Feb. 28.—(Correspondence of The TRIBUNE).—Annual meetings of sugar plantation companies producing the bulk of the Hawaiian crop have developed several features affecting the sugar refining operations at Crockett, Cal., where much of the crop here goes.

Despite more than ordinary handicaps as a result of strikes and other harmful conditions, all of the sugar companies were reported in flourishing condition and large dividends were distributed.

Ewa Plantation Company paid a strike loss assessment of $721,818, stood a loss from sale of stocks and bonds of $487,504, paid territorial income and conservation and Federal income and excess profits taxes of approximately $900,000 and still paid a dividend of 30 per cent for 1920.

ABNORMAL YEAR

In his annual report to the board of directors, George F. Renton, manager, declares the year an abnormal one due to the strike of the Japanese and the unforeseen and spectacular rise and fall in the price of sugar. Labor shortage prevented seeding the acreage planned, but he estimates the crop for the coming year for Ewa plantation at 36,000 tons. The company put $375,000 into permanent improvements. The net profits of the year were $5,119,897.

The board of directors' action in authorizing the subscription of Ewa's share of new stock of the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining company was ratified by the stockholders. The sum of $4,213,889 was carried forward in the treasury, part of it for use in keeping the company's obligations in refinancing the Crockett refinery.

E. D. Tenny was elected president; C. H. Cooke, vice-president; F. C. Atherton, treasurer; George P. Castle, H. H. Walker, J. D. McInerny, W. L. Hopper, directors.

PIONEER'S REPORT

Despite plantation bonuses, income taxes, strike claims and Crockett adjustment assessments, which cost the Pioneer Mill Company 9 cents a pound to produce its sugar, the company reported net profits of $2,743,016, according to A. W. T. Bottomley, president, due, he said, to the fortunate marketing of the bulk of the crop the first part of 1920 at 16 cents. The company purchased 6018 shares of California-Hawaiian refinancing stock at $601,800, paid $629,000 strike assessment, more than $2,000,000 plantation bonuses and nearly $2,000,000 in profit taxes, put $500,000 into permanent improvements, installing a three-roller mill with shredder, and paid 15 per cent in dividends.

Bottomley was re-elected president; J. A. McCandless, first vice-president; E. I. Spalding, second vice-president; S. M. Lowrey, treasurer; G. P. Wilcox, treasurer, and these, with George Sherman, J. M. Dowsett and C. R. Hemenway, directors. For the San Francisco office P. A. Drew was elected assistant first vice-president; George Montgomery, assistant vice-president; F. C. Lyser, assistant secretary, and J. D. Lambert, assistant treasurer.

WAIALUA PROFITS

Reporting a profit of $4,504,721 in 1920, Waialua Agricultural Company at its meeting ratified the subscription of its allotment of Crockett stock and the placing of that stock in the pooling agreement for twenty years under the direction of six trustees. The company's strike loss assessment was $638,526. Taxes and losses on stocks were nearly $500,000; and $228,000 was put into new buildings and reservoirs. E. D. Tenney was elected president; C. H. Cooke, vice president; F. C. Atherton, vice president; T. H. Petrie, secretary, and C. H. Atherton, treasurer.

The stockholders of Hawaiian Sugar Company authorized the purchase of $427,100 worth of California & Hawaiian Sugar refining stock. The company paid $1,061,023 plantation bonuses, stood heavy taxes and bond sale losses, largely Liberty bonds out of the sinking fund, one item of loss being $162,000. Seven hundred and twenty thousand dollars was paid out in dividends.

News of the Waterfront

Cloudy weather is still reported along the coast with wind light with the exception of Point Reyes, where it was blowing 30 miles an hour from the northwest all morning. During the afternoon it decreased to 24 miles with a choppy sea. The barometer has not changed any for several days. Rain is expected here at any time. An indication of bad weather outside the heads is shown by many seagulls inside the harbor. Mariners know that whenever a storm is blowing outside the gulls come in port, driving the bay gulls away.

The Japanese steamer Korea Maru, at Hongkong had a fire in her hemp cargo. A survey showed that the hemp was badly damaged but the vessel's hull undamaged. She is en route to this port.

The steamer Hawkeye State, which arrived here Saturday from Baltimore and was taken over by the Matson Navigation Company, left today for Honolulu. She is under command of Captain Peterson. Yesterday the vessel held open house to visitors and nearly 5000 invitations were issued. The new craft is expected to reach Honolulu in five days.

Vessels cruising along the coast continue to send in wireless reports of passing trees and logs floating which is a menace to navigation. Captain Thomas of the steamer Governor, passed a log standing upright about 7 feet out of the water and in another location saw a 40-foot log floating. Captain Sullivan of the tanker Atlas also reports a log 50 feet in length in another latitude.

No further reports have been heard of the overturned vessel supposed to be the schooner Harvester, which was reported off Monterey yesterday by the captain of the Admiral Mayo.

The ferry steamer Ukiah is at the Southern Pacific shipyard, Oakland, receiving a general overhauling. The Thoroughfare of the Creek route, which was rammed by the steamer Enterprise, is at the same place being repaired. The Encinal, which has been overhauling for a long time, is almost ready for service. At the present time the Southern Pacific Company has not a spare steamer, should an accident happen to any of the ferry craft.

The steamer Liebre, which recently stuck on the beach at Ascension Island, is on the drydock at San Pedro where she was surveyed by the Marine Underwriters, and found to be badly damaged. Temporary repairs are being made so that the craft can come to this port. She will be placed on the drydock of the Bethlehem Company at Alameda.

Steamer Santa Rita is due at this port on Wednesday next from South American ports. She has in tow the ex-German ship Egon, the third of the interned sailing craft recently purchased by the Robert Dollar Company. It will be several weeks before all of the vessels reach this port. As soon as a charter can be found for them they will be placed in service. These craft were formerly English vessels before being purchased by German shipping firms.

It is understood that the Dollar Company expects to place them under the American flag, before they leave this port, and all will carry an American crew.

No sign of moving the Alaska fishing fleet this season is shown yet at this port. The fishermen and cannery hands are beginning to feel worried, as the operators from Puget Sound and Columbia River, have already began to take some of their craft out of winter quarters. In former years the Alaska fleet was all drydocked and partly loaded with their supplies before this date. The operators here state that there is no hurry, and if satisfactory terms cannot be arranged with the fishermen, the canneries in Alaska as well as the codfish fishing, will not operate this year. This will give the fruit canners several hundred Chinese who formerly went to the salmon canneries a chance to work on fruit.

C. C. Members Pay Water-Front Visit

To lay the ground plan of a comprehensive scheme of port improvement the executive committee, of the Harbor Development committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce made a tour of the inner and outer harbor fronts this afternoon. The trip was made in the power boat of Dr. George C. Pardee and practically the entire afternoon was given over to it.

The inspection was only the first of a number, with the object of making a close study of harbor development to date and the needs of the mainland to accommodate shipping.

The executive committee now has before it a number of plans submitted by sub-committees for harbor improvement and it was to gain first-hand information in regard to the feasibility of these that the trip was made.

Those in the party were Charles P. Howard, chairman of the committee; J. J. McElroy, vice-chairman; E. B. Field, Major George L. Dillman, retired army officer, and Commander Homer C. Poundstone, retired naval officer.

The column of heights gives the elevation each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey Chart Soundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths, unless preceded by the minus sign or dash (—), when the numbers are subtractive from depths given on the chart.

Note—In the above tabulation of tides, the daily tides are given in the order of their occurrence commencing with the early morning tide in the left-hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur, the fourth occurring the following morning.

WOMEN POKER PLAYERS FEAR SPIES

Green-Topped Tables and Neglected Homes

WRITER FINDS HERSELF SUSPECTED

It isn't the easiest thing in the world to play poker at Oakland's professionally conducted card games.

For behind every door lurks suspicion of the stranger who rings the bell and asks admittance. The prospect of a full purse being emptied into a game counts for naught when weighed against the chance of being "spied upon."

For that reason this is the story of how one doesn't get into games that are "personally conducted" in Oakland.

An address in East Sixteenth street was handed to The TRIBUNE investigator. Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays were the days for which games were announced. A bright moonlight Saturday night was picked as a propitious evening in which to start the hunt for the game and the gambler.

FAILED TO FIND HOUSE FIRST NIGHT

"A Mrs. K——— used to play cards at that apartment," read information which had come to the reporter assigned to the investigation. "If you must have a name, use her's. She's sworn off playing poker, so you're safe."

It wasn't necessary to use Mrs. K's or anybody else's name that evening. The house in which the card game was scheduled was as dark as the darkest night ever made. A tour of the neighborhood failed to reveal anything that looked like it housed a flourishing card game, and defeat was registered for the first night's investigations. A telephone book the next day revealed that the failure was a case of merely a wrong address.

Monday was the next day scheduled for a game, and that morning the telephone was brought into play. A woman's voice answered the ring of the investigator.

NAME OF FRIEND GAINS INFORMATION.

"Good morning. Is this Mrs. ———?"

"Yes."

And then in a familiar tone: "Is there a game on today?"

Quick as a flash came a query—a query which spelled mingled fear, suspicion and curiosity all in one—a combination which followed the investigator in her travels.

"Who is this speaking?" snapped the voice at the other end of the wire.

"You wouldn't know my name—but I'll tell you," was the reply. "A friend of mine told me about your place, as I like to play cards. I was stupid enough, though, to forget the days on which you played."

Once more a sharp question: "Who's your friend?"

A name was mumbled into the telephone and then before an answer could come back: "You do play on Mondays, don't you?"

"Why, yes, I have a game today," in a voice a trifle more cordial. "We begin about 1 o'clock."

"All right, I'll be out," and the receiver was snapped back into place.

NO FORMALITIES AT OAKLAND CARD GAMES.

"This is easy, this being a sleuth," grinned the amateur "dick" to herself. And eagerly she started out to keep her tryst.

The address led to an attractive brick and plaster apartment house in a district of semi-fashionable apartments within a stone's throw of Lake Merritt. Four doors stood in a row. Mrs. ———'s was the first. The investigator rang the bell, but she discovered she followed the wrong ethics from the start. She should have familiarly turned the knob and walked in. For that is what a stout woman with a florid face who followed her up the steps did. There are no formalities at Oakland's card games—that is for those on the inside of them.

A stout woman in a faded smock, her hair frizzed above her forehead, answered the summons to the door.

ADMISSION TO HOUSE FINALLY IS GAINED.

Came a bright smile from the prospective card-player on the outside. "Am I late?" was her greeting, with a hasty glance at the watch on her wrist. The hour was 1 o'clock.

The door opened, and the stranger entered within. "It's like taking the proverbial candy from a baby," breathed she with a sigh of relief. But her joy was short-lived, for the entrance hall was as far as she got. Her further progress was barred by the corpulent form of the mistress of the house.

"Who did you say sent you here?" queried the lady of the apartment.

Eagerly was the name of Mrs. K——— sprung. It would surely work.

"I never heard of such a person," was the breath-taking answer.

"Perhaps I have the name wrong; I only met her once, and names are so hard to get the first time," came the parrying response, with the realization that the name had been incorrectly relayed.

STRANGERS NEVER ALLOWED IN GAMES.

The front door opened and a middle-aged woman with a grandmotherly air and the appearance of having just left her Monday washtubs, walked confidently in.

"Go right in. I'll be with you in a moment," smiled Mrs. ——— and the newcomer disappeared into a room beyond where already one could hear the clinking of chips and the murmur of voices.

"Where did you meet this lady who recommended you?" insisted the curious keeper of the house. Answers were made which seemed to fit, but they didn't satisfy.

"You see," explained Mrs ———, "I never allow strangers at my games."

"Why?" in a surprised tone. "You don't do anything against the law, do you?"

"No, but the women who play here demand protection; they insist on knowing who they play with."

The knob on the unlatched front door turned once more, and two women walked in. "I've brought a new player," called a small dark-haired and dark-eyed woman with an upturned hat. "Every time I come I bring you someone new."

CARD ROOM IS NOT VISIBLE FROM HALL.

"Good for you," laughed Mrs ———. "Go right in."

The two women proceeded around a turn in the hallway and a door slammed behind them. To the right was an open door leading to the kitchen. A pot sizzled on a gas stove, evidently the makings of the evening meal to be served the card players. No glimpse of the card room was afforded from the hallway. There was nothing to be seen but a steaming pot and a hall bare of all adornment, a cold, cheerless entrance to an apartment.

Once more the lady of the poker game turned to her hesitant visitor. She went on to explain in genial voice: "You see, ever since they stopped the card games at the halls in Oakland, we have to be careful. I used to run a game in Oakland so I can't afford to take chances with strangers. If you come to me properly recommended I'll let you in. As it is I'd have to stand sponsor for you to the women playing in my house and I don't know you. If you bring recommendations I'll introduce you to the rest of the games in Oakland, too."

"What are they afraid of, these women?" parried she who was bent on card-playing. "Do they fear professional players? You don't allow men, do you?"

SAME RULE APPLIES TO MEN, SHE SAYS

"They just demand protection of me, that's all, and I must give it to them," was the answer for a second time. "Yes, we do allow men, if we know them. The same rule applies to men as to women."

Again the door opened to admit two more women. Familiarity marked their entrance. They, too, slipped by their hostess into a room beyond. Both were women who looked like they might have been attending a mothers' club meeting instead of a poker game.

The lady of the house still questioned. She was frankly curious and disturbed at the presence of this strange person in her home. Unconsciously she revealed the identity of the woman whose name it was the investigator thought she had but which in transit to her had become changed enough to alter its production slightly.

"It couldn't have been Mrs K——— who sent you?" she questioned.

Hope seemed gleaming through the dark clouds. Of course, that was the name, how stupid it was of her to forget it, was what her visitor assured her.

INVESTIGATOR SITS IN ANOTHER GAME

The corpulent lady with the frizzled hair was weakening visibly. Then another visitor appeared and she suddenly hardened. She remembered her duty to her customers.

"If you are sure that that is the woman, have her call me and I'll be glad to let you in. I have another game on Wednesday. You see, dearie, I have nothing against you; it would be the same with any other stranger. I have never allowed a stranger to play here in the months I have been conducting this game. I must be [illegible] Bring your recommendations and you can play all you want."

There seemed nothing else to do but to make a graceful exit. Mrs. ——— patted her caller on the arm as she led her to the door and smiled her down the steps to the street.

WOMAN ON STREET CAR FOLLOWS HER

The next day brought better luck to the investigator who would play cards. For five hours she sat at a card table at a place not Mrs. ———'s and she felt like a veteran at the game when on Wednesday shortly after noon she headed out East Sixteenth street way for the third time, confident success was to be hers.

A new adventure met her on the way—in which the ever-present fear of the women who play at poker games was dominant. Opposite her on the car sat a woman in the late thirties trimly dressed in a brownish sports skirt, jersey coat and turban to match. She wore smart new brown kid slippers with bows of ribbon. She was of the type one would call "middle-class."

At Fourth avenue the investigator got up to leave the car. So did the woman in brown. The latter stepped off first but she hesitated, unwilling to make the first move from the center of the street. Boldly the aforesaid searcher after poker games crossed the street. The woman followed slowly behind her. Furtiveness filled the air. At the corner of Fourth avenue and East Sixteenth street looms an attractive view of the hills. The investigator thought she could play a little game of her own too, even if she couldn't get into a poker party. She stopped and gazed hillward. The footsteps behind her slowed down and stopped. Her suspicions were confirmed. The woman was afraid of being followed! She didn't want any one to know where she was going.

AGAIN SHE IS DENIED ENTRANCE TO GAME

The rest of the walk was brisk. Again the bell on the apartment door was rung. But hesitant no longer was the lady in brown. She turned the knob and walked in. Before she entered, however, she sent a glance to her who waited on the porch. It was a mixture of fear and relief. She disappeared through the doorway and the stout figure of the mistress of the house took her place. This time it was black and white polka-dotted "bungalow apron" which formed the receiving gown.

No cordiality was evident on the part of the apron-begowned lady and no door was hospitably opened to the stranger who waited without.

"I'm sorry but my tables are filled," snapped she. "I called up Mrs. K——— and she said she never sent anyone to me."

"But I played at Mrs. B———'s yesterday and she told me about your place," came the defensive as bravely as possible under the circumstances. "This is a club; we don't allow strangers" was the next thrust. "Bring me proper recommendations and you can get in, otherwise I'm afraid I'll have to bar you."

NO BABIES SEEN AT APARTMENT HOUSE

"Why didn't you tell me it was a club in the first place," answered the visitor on the porch. "I'm sorry if I intruded as I had no intention of so doing. Good afternoon."

And thus ended in failure the first attempt at actual card playing at Oakland's professionally conducted poker games. But while she had failed in one respect, the investigator had been introduced to the "god of fear," as known to those who frequent poker games and she had learned a few things which were not of small importance. By her own admissions Mrs. ——— was barred from running a card game in Oakland. The history of her case shows that she conducted a game at a hall, which was stopped in the fall of 1917 owing to complaints reaching police station. Husbands protested that their wives were neglecting babies to spend hours at card tables.

No babies made their appearance at the ——— home during the two visits of the investigator. But there were mothers a plenty who did trip up the stairs into a secluded room beyond a darkened hallway.

Tomorrow the investigator will tell of what did happen when she actually played poker at a professionally conducted house a few blocks distant from the apartment of Mrs. ———.

CLUB WOMEN HOLD HOT DEBATE OVER BAY SCHOOL PLAN

Opposing "Lobbies" Give Views Before Board On Proposed Construction.

At the end of a heated session during which two "lobbies" of clubwomen opposed each other concerning the Bay school, the Board of Education last night re-referred the Bay school matter to the building program committee and voted that the construction chief, chairman of the finance committee and chairman of the board attend a mass meeting Thursday evening at the Golden Gate library auditorium, when both sides of the problem will be thoroughly aired.

The objection of representatives of the Bay School Parent-Teacher association is that the amended plans mean the continuation of the present buildings as a nucleus of the larger school. They assert they want a new school, not an old school with new parts.

The protestants, eleven in number, said they voted for the school bond program believing that they were to get a new Bay school.

"The integrity of the Board of Education is at stake," they said. "A confidence has been broken."

APPROVAL DENIED.

Another "lobby" of Bay school clubwomen took the opposite stand and said the plans for the remodeled school were approved by a committee of women. The "counter lobby" asked where anyone got authority for such approval. Directors Pease, Gray, Campbell, Chandler and Short spoke at length, and so did Marston Campbell, chief of the building department.

The argument began when Fred Campbell said he found "the majority of the Parent-Teachers opposed" to the school plans as now made. Director Daisy Short said she had understood that the organization had approved.

"I'm here to contradict that," said Fred Campbell. "They did not approve the plans."

Several of the women said they had looked over the plans and said they were "very beautiful" but did not formally approve them, and the matter was never up officially with the clubwomen. Marston Campbell of the construction department said a committee had approved. The women retorted that this was a sort of scouting committee which was only authorized to report.

DEBATE ENSUES.

"We're sick and tired of being cast aside," they said. "We want the Bay school to be the best in the city."

Fred Campbell asserted that the building is thirty-seven years old, with nothing left of much value except the main timbers. Marston Campbell said the building is a fine, substantial structure for the nucleus of a splendid school.

A resolution declaring the intention of the board to secure two sites for new schools, one east and one west of Broadway, was adopted. These structures are planned to ultimately take care of the pupils of Grant school, on Broadway, which school may be abandoned because of the noises and disturbances from Broadway traffic.

Widow Returns With Body of Her Husband Who Was Slain

Mrs. George W. Reed Prostrated After Arduous Journey From Guatemala.

BERKELEY, March 8.—Fleeing from her husband's murderers, who threatened her life, Mrs George W. Reed, widow of a millionaire coffee planter of Guatemala, who was slain on his plantation on January 5, is prostrated today at her home, 2334 Le Conte avenue.

With the body of her husband, and accompanied by her brother, A. R. Reddan of Oakland, Mrs. Reed arrived in San Francisco yesterday on the Pacific Mail liner Golden State. Both Reddan and his sister were literally driven out of Guatemala, it is declared, by the powerful friends of Reed's murderers.

Reading like a fiction story of South American intrigue and intimidation is the tale of murder and fear of death for herself which Mrs. Reed reveals. Reed's murderers, declares his widow, are two Indian brothers, Modesto and Adrian Santos, who had long been befriended by Reed. Details of the murder vary as only Indians witnessed the deed. A dispute over some mules is declared, however, to have been the actual cause. Reed was shot in the back by one of the men and left to die. His murderers fled into Mexico.

DRIVEN FROM PLANTATION

Driven from their plantation by influential friends of the murderers, Mrs. Reed and her brother made their way to La Libertad, where they awaited a vessel to carry the body to San Francisco. The Golden State, the first steamer putting in there, afforded no accommodations but on hearing the story of the Berkeley woman, John H. Rossetter vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail, ordered that room be made on the ship, and the sad journey was continued.

At La Libertad additional sad news came to the brother and sister, that of the death of their mother, Mrs. H. W. Reddan, 534 Sixty-fifth street, on February 19. A cousin, Mrs P. K. Jensven, who lived at the Reed home in Berkeley, had died shortly before the departure of Mrs. Reed and her brother, who were summond to Guatemala by the news of the death of Reed. That the death was not one of natural causes and that murder had been committed was not learned until their arrival at the plantation.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

In a state of collapse at the double tragedy, Mrs. Reed was placed in the care of D. C. E. Pedersen, physician on the Golden Gate. The strain of the long trip and the shock of the events which called her from Berkeley has forced Mrs Reed to rest in seclusion at her Berkeley home.

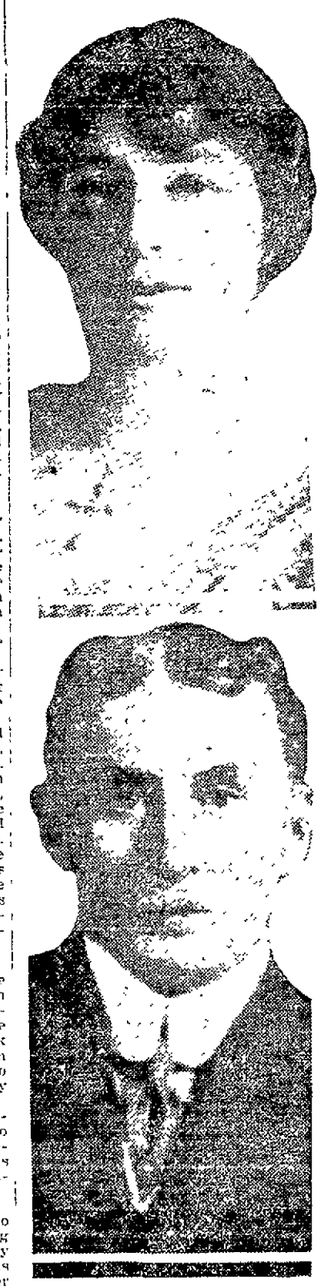

That President Herrera of Guatemala is making special efforts to run down Reed's slayers as the result of threats on Mrs. Reed was the information brought by the latter.

JOINT FUNERAL

Last April Mrs. Reed came into the limelight by reason of losing jewels valued at $20,000 on her way to a Berkeley theater. She was carrying the gems in a bag on her wrist. Two days later the gems were returned to her, having been found on the street.

Reed's funeral will be held jointly with that of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Reddan, whose body has been held pending the arrival of her son and daughter. A requiem high mass will be celebrated on Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church, following which interment will be made in Holy Cross cemetery in San Francisco.

MRS. GEORGE W. REED, who arrived here from Guatemala with the body of her husband, late millionaire coffee planter (below), who was killed by two Indians on his plantation.

OAKLAND POLICE CHIEF DECLARES WAR ON SPEEDERS

Traffic Squad To Be Enlarged To Suppress Violations Of Ordinances.

A big detail of traffic patrolmen will be assigned in the next week or so to stop speeding, according to Chief Fenton Thompson, who says "there is altogether too much speeding in this city."

"I have not completed my plans," says Thompson, "but the matter will be dealt with very shortly. There have been too many complaints lately about speeding. The law will be enforced. There are new men on the force, and this addition will possibly allow for an augmented traffic squad."

CHIEF HAS CHASE.

Thompson says the speeding habit was forcibly borne on him two nights ago, when a car passed him on West Seventh street, going 45 miles an hour and driven by a 16-year-old boy.

"I had to go 48 miles an hour to catch him," says Thompson. "It is a sample of the danger that persons are subjected to on the streets."

In reorganizing the police force, Thompson placed the traffic squad mainly on downtown streets to keep traffic moving. Sergeant J. H. Nedderman is in charge of this squad but not of a speed squad. Thompson says he is considering making Nedderman the head of a speed squad also.

ONE HEAD NEEDED.

"A traffic department should have one responsible head," he says. "It may be that the speed squad will be embraced in Nedderman's jurisdiction, though this has not yet been decided."

Nedderman will go to Sacramento Thursday to attend the sessions of the Legislature when traffic laws will come up for discussion. Nedderman was one of the founders of the National Traffic Officers' Association and is a high official in that organization. He has been detailed to watch Oakland's interests concerning whatever new traffic laws come up.
